COUNT VON HERTLING TALKS ABOUT PEACE

London, September 13.—Notwithstanding the declination of Germany's peace offer, Count von Hertling, the imperial German chancellor, is convinced that peace is nearer than is generally supposed, according to an address made by the chancellor before the trades unionist leaders in Germany, says a dispatch to the Exchange Pelegraph from Copenhagen.

The chancellor declared that both the German government and army leaders desire an understanding and peace.

Count von Hertling said the government and the army leaders were against all conquests.

As soon as he was convinced of the impossibility of an agreement with the upper house on the suffrage question, the chancellor said he would dissolve the lower house.

Von Payer Still Boasts.

Amsterdam, Thursday, September 12. Reiterating that Germany "as the innocent and attacked party" in the war, had a right to demand indemnification, Frederich von Payer, the German imperial vice chancellor, in his speech today at Stuttgaart said that "we prefer on calm reflection, and even with our own favorable military situation, to abandon this idea."

Turning to the question of the occupied territories, the vice chancellor said that as a preliminary condition of peace for Germany and her allies those nations must have all their prewar possessions, including the German colonies, restored. Then Germany, he declared, could evacuate the occupied regions and could give back Belgium without encumbrance and without reserve, providing no other state was more favorably placed in regard to Belgium than was Germany.

He asserted that Germany would not submit to the entente powers for approval or alteration the peace treaties which Germany had signed with the Ukraine, Russia and Rumania.

Victory of Pershing's Troops Brings Invasion Nearer

Grover W. Calhoun, Of Georgia, Wins American War Cross

Pershing Announces Decoration for Gallantry of 17 Officers and Men—Fifteen Awards Were Made Posthumously.

Washington, September 13.—Award of the distinguished service cross to seventeen officers and men for gallantry in action was reported today to the war department by General Pershing. Fifteen of the awards were made posthumously. Every man in the latter list either was killed in action or died of wounds, while three met death while attempting to rescue their commanding officer.

Among those decorated posthumously was Private Grover W. Calhoun, Morgan, Ga., machine gun battalion. The citation follows:

"He distinguished himself near Soissons by exceptional coolness and heroic handling of his gun. While under intense fire he inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy, thereby materially aiding the advance, and was killed on July 19, while seeking an advantageous position during the advance that date."

Illustrating the character of service, General Pershing cited a marine who, at Bois de Belleau, in June, was shot through the chest while carrying a message from battalion to company headquarters directly across the face of enemy fire. "I must deliver this message," he called out after being shot, and struggled forward fifty feet when he fell dead.

REPORTS RECEIVED FROM 149 COUNTIES

Official Figures Show That Hardwick and Howard Are Now Tied in Number of Counties Carried.

Complete consolidated returns from Wednesday's primary for United States senator have been received from 149 of 152 counties in Georgia, the only counties from which the complete figures have not been reported being Effingham, Haralson and Columbia.

In the complete returns received last night the only change in the standing of the senatorial candidates is the loss of one county, formerly credited to him, by Howard and the gain of the same county by Hardwick. Douglas county was believed to have been in the Howard column, but the official returns give Hardwick 476 votes, Harris 98 and Howard 413, thus showing a plurality of 63 votes for Hardwick.

With these additional returns the combined results for the United States senate follows:

Harris, 113 counties, 288 electoral votes.

Howard, 19 counties, 48 electoral votes.

Hardwick, 19 counties, 42 electoral votes.

Shaw, 1 county, 2 electoral votes.

The popular votes of all the senatorial candidates compiled from returns from the 149 reporting counties follow:

Harris, 61,751.

Hardwick, 36,963.

Howard, 35,685.

Shaw, 2,287.

Cooper, 1,892.

THREATENED PUDDLERS' STRIKE IS POSTPONED

Washington, September 13.—Postponement of the threatened strike of puddleds employed in steel mills in eastern Pennsylvania and New York was announced today after the national war labor board had agreed with officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers to hold a hearing of the men's grievances next Thursday at Philadelphia.

The strike had been called for Monday. The men asked for an increase of $2.50 per ton on all iron puddled so as to bring their pay to that allowed in the western district, where the haul to the mills is shorter.

D. J. Davis, assistant president of the association, who was here conferring with members of the labor board, has wired the men to call off the strike, and telegrams also were sent by the board urging the men to remain on the job pending a decision in the case.

Advance at St. Mihiel, While Local, Forms Part of Foch's Scheme to Drive Enemy to Utter Defeat. American Army Is Now One of Three Great Military Machines.

By Frank H. Simonds.

New York, September 13.—(Special.) Despite natural and justified pride in our American achievement in a single sector of the great western front, it is essential that we should now appreciate the larger meaning of the victory at St. Mihiel. It is, viewed from this angle, a magnificent example of the advantages of a unified command, are revelation of the military genius of our allied commander-in-chief, and a hopeful index that there is to be no let up in the general allied offensive and no repetition of the costly victories which has made earlier allied offensives once costly failures.

Strategy of Grant.

Foch is following the larger strategy of Grant in 1864. He is attacking all along the line. He is attacking in Lorraine; he has attacked in Champaigne, in Ile de France, in Picardy and in Artois, and he will certainly attack in Flanders. Ludendorff has retired behind the Hindenburg line with the expectation that Foch would follow him and wear our his resources in a repetition of the Somme and Flanders campaign of 1916 and 1917. But Foch has shifted his field of operations and inflicted a new defeat, local, but costly.

As a result of our American victory the only break in the permanent line of French defenses on the eastern frontier has been repaired. The Toul-Verdun railroad is reopened, giving the French invaluable material communication behind the Verdun-Toul front. In the same way the Paris-Nancy railroad has been freed from the surveillance of German guns about St. Mihiel and a forty-mile detour eliminated.

To Major Profits.

Two major profits for the future have also been realized. Foch is free now to launch an offensive in the direction of Briey and its great iron mines—without danger on his southern flank. He is equally at liberty to strike eastward from Nancy between Metz and Strassburg without anxiety for his rearward communications with Paris.

An advance to Briey would be a local operation with a purely limited objective—the iron mines. But an advance from Nancy would be the beginning of the real invasion of Germany, an invasion certain to come next year and when it comes, sure to compel the Germans to retire out of northern France and western Belgium. In a word, the American success in abolishing the St. Mihiel salient solidly lays the foundation for a great American offensive into Alsace-Lorraine which is to be the decisive feature of the campaign of 1919.

Comparison of Drives.

Looked at as a single operation, Pershing's attack is wholly comparable to that of Mangin against the Marne salient and Rawlinson against the Montdidier pocket. In both cases the attack was mainly on one side of a deep salient or pocket, designed to narrow the mouth and thus compel the enemy in the salient to retreat. But in the case of St. Mihiel, the pocket was so narrow at the mouth that a successful advance of half a dozen miles made quickly would threaten all the troops in the salient with envelopment and capture. This is what has happened.

Thus Foch, having regained the initiative as a result of the Marne counter offensive, has successively attacked Ludendorff in all sectors where the German position was unhappy. In each case he has assailed a position taken by the Germans originally as a jumping-off place for further offensive operations, and obstinately retained, after the chance of continuing the offensive had failed.

The object of all these various offensives, taken together, is to disorganize the enemy, break down his morale, put a severe strain upon his reserves and exhaust his materials. These are the preliminary steps to the engaging in that great battle which must ultimately come and without which no military decision can be had.

Hun Defeat Inevitable.

None of the defeats so far inflicted upon the enemy has destroyed an army or shaken the organizataion of any single army. Collectively, the various victories have ominously weakened German morale on the front and behind it, and forced the Germans to accept a defensive fight, the end of which is inevitable defeat.

We are bound to avoid the familiar mistake of fixing up on geographical objectives as the aim of our commander-in-chief. These geographical objectives, frequently discussed, are but incidental. Foch is not striving to take Metz, the Briey iron mines; Cambrai, Douai or Lille. He is not even largely concerned with turning the Germans out of France and Belgium.

On the contrary, Foch is the exponent and has always been the teacher of the doctrine of absolute war; that is, of war directed against the armies of the enemy for the purpose of bringing them to battle, inflicting upon them a decisive defeat, which shall win the Adjournment.

The responsiveness of Atlanta people to the plan of the united war work campaign was manifest last night, when an immense crowd, that thronged the Auditorium-Armory, cheered until it re-echoed from the rafters Gipsy Smith's keynote sentence for the coming drive, "We are going to cease emphasizing the things that don't matter; we are going to quit misunderstanding one another, and join in one great brotherhood."

Announced in the afternoon by the flare of a band on the streets, the meeting had not one iota of disappointment, for the audience who sat enthralled from 7:45 until 11, for seldom has Atlanta been offered at one time so many speakers of eloquence and authority. There were thrills brought first-hand by those who had been on the battle line, and had caught the spirit of fighting America and her allies. There were genuine emotions stirred by the message of courage and faith that came from the other side, and there was the inspiration that came from the reminder of the heroic conduct that has made our boys loved and welcomed by those who were in the fight before them.

Band Stirs Enthusiasm.

The atmosphere of enthusiasm which was felt throughout the evening was first aroused when the famous replacement band from Camp Gordon warmed up their instruments with several martial numbers. Following this concert there was community singing. A tone of solemnity was given to the program by beginning with "Onward Christian Soldiers," which the leader, Mr. Roberts, said he had suggested as the hymn of democracy.

Following the songs, Bishop Warren A. Candler offered a prayer in behalf of the men in our army and navy.

J. K. Orr, state chairman of the campaign, presided and fittingly introduced each speaker. Of Gipsy Smith he said: "Atlanta is never prouder than when she has a speaker better known than his introducer."

The famous evangelist, known on five continents, carried his audience with him with his usual popular appeal, and when he spoke of stopping, was interrupted with cries of "Go on."

After pushing the speaker's table out of his way, Gipsy Simth in his inimita-

"We Have Achieved Further Successes," Says Pershing

Commander-in-Chief of the American Armies Cables Short and Modest Report of Great Victory by Which Americans Have Advanced to Enemy Border—New Line of Battle Is Started.

Washington, September 13.—The number of prisoners taken by the Americans in flattening out the St. Mihiel salient now numbers 13,300, General Pershing reported in his communique for today received late tonight at the war department. No mention was made of the number of guns and other booty captured.

The enemy, General Pershing said, is retiring before the steady advance of the Americans and is destroying large quantities of materials as he goes.

The text of the statement follows:

"Headquarters of the American Expeditionary Forces, September 13.—

"Section A—In the St. Mihiel sector we have achieved further successes. The junction of our troops advancing from the south of the sector with those advancing from the west have given possession of the whole salient to points 12 miles northeast of St. Mihiel and have resulted in the capture of many prisoners.

"Forced back by our steady advance, the enemy is retiring and is destroying large quantities of material as he goes. The number of prisoners counted has risen to 13,300. Our line now includes Herbeuville, Thillet, Hattonville, St. Benot - Xammes-Jaulny-Thiaucourt and Vieville."

M'ADOO'S BOND TAX PLAN PASSES HOUSE

Bill to Stimulate Sale of Liberty Issues Now Goes to Senate.

Washington, September 13.—The administration measure designed to stimulate the sale of Liberty bonds by making a larger amount of them held by individuals and corporations free from federal taxation was passed tonight by the house without a dissenting vote.

All of the bill's important features—exempting from income and war excess profits taxation the interest on Liberty bonds up to $30,000 of the fourth issue, and $45,000 of the previous issues, authorizing regulation of Liberty Bonds transactions and increasing war savings stamps, authorizing from $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000—were left unchanged by the house.

Bill to Senate.

The bill now goes to the senate, with prospects of speedy enactment next week. The house spent the entire day considering the measure, puting over the bill until tomorrow, when general debate will be closed. Leaders plan to begin initial consideration of amendments Monday under a five-minute debate rule.

Enactment of the bond bill had been sked by the treasury department before the beginning of the fourth Liberty Loan campaign, September 28, and all speeches in the house today agreed that the measure wouw greatly stimulate subscriptions to the loans. Although there was no opposition to the provisions for increasing tax exemptions of Liberty Bonds, a sharp fight developed on the clause authorizing the president to regulate or prohibit transactions in government bonds or other certificates. The provision, however, was retained in the bill, the house reversing previous action in committee of the whole, after a stirring appeal by Majority Leader Kitchin.

Hayes Leads iFght.

Representative Hayes, of California, ranking republican of the banking committee, led the fight on the clause authorizing regulation of bond sales. Thepower proposed for the president, he declared, is unnecessary, extraordinary and might frighten prospective bond purchasers. Representative Kitchin declared the clause necessary to protect small as well as large bondholders, and said it was inconceivable that the president or secretary of the treasury would use his authority to depreciate the price of bonds. Little syndicates of men have organized to buy bonds, Mr. Kitchin said, to "dump" them on the market and depress the price in an effort to force the government to raise the prevailing interest rates.

The house amended the section of the bill authorizing the secretary of the treasury to stabilize foreign exchange so as to provide that the authority shall terminate in two years after the war ends.

Fair Raw Cotton Price to Be Fixed, States President

Action Will Be Taken if Investigating Committee of Industries Board Finds It Necessary.

Washington, September 13.—President Wilson announced today that a fair price for raw cotton will be fixed if that should be deemed necessary after the committee to be appointed by the war industries board has completed its inquiry into the general cotton situation.

During the investigation a separate committee of three soon to be named will buy cotton for the use of the United States government and the allies at prices to be approved by the president. Since most of the cotton of the country is required for war uses, this government buying is expected to stabilize prices.

The president said that the purpose of the investigations to be conducted by the committee to be named by the war industries board is to devise methods for broadening the channels of distribution and use of the great stock of low grade cotton now practically unmarketable, for eliminating speculation and hoarding and apportioning foreign orders.

President's Statement.

The president's statement follows:

"The demand for high grade cotton, which is out of proportion to the available supply, and the fact that the government, through early agreements with the allies, must act as a common buyer for allied purchases, make it necessary to secure some basis of distribution of all grades of cotton. Based on the standard grades established by the department of agriculture, an effort will be made to provide a way by which the low grade cotton will be brought to sale and use along with the high grade cotton at reasonable and just prices.

"It is believed that by this course, both the producer and consumer will be better protected than by continuation of the present chaotic conditions of the market.

Plan Outlined.

"The plan is to create, subject to the approval of the president, a cotton committee to devise methods for (a) broadening the channels of distribution and use of the great stock of low grades now practically unmarketable; (b) eliminating speculation and hoarding, and (c) apportioning the foreign orders.

"It may be part of this committee's duty to recommend basic prices on cotton. If, after investigation, it is found necessary, a fair price will be fixed.

"During this investigation and in order to avoid stagnation, a separate committee of three is being set up with the authority to buy cotton for the use of the United States government and the allies, at prices to be approved by the president."

Statement Explained.

The president's statement, it was explained, was issued to avoid misinterpretation of statements by the war industries board concerning the stabilization of the cotton industry. Price-fixing of cotton has been vigorously opposed by senators from southern states, who have had several conferences with Chairman Baruch, of the board. They contend that the law of supply and demand should continue to govern the price.

Decision of the president and the war industries board to investigate the cotton situation followed closely the recent announcement of the department of agriculture that drouths over the belt in July and August had reduced the probable yield from the estimate of about 15,325,000 bales to 11,137,000 bales. After this forecast was published, the price of cotton rose $10 a bale on the principal exchanges.

RECOGNITION REFUSED TO HORVATH REGIME

Vladivostok, September 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The entente allied authorities here have refused to recognize the Siberian government headed by General Horvath, according to a semi-official announcement today, and have appointed a committee of seven to administer the municipal affairs.

All misunderstandings between the Japanese and Russian authorities have been completely removed. The Japanese and Russian troops are fraternizing.

ALLIED TERMS OF PEACE TO STAND, SAYS SMUTS

Newcastle, England, September 12.—The German people ought to know that if they had dreamed of getting better peace terms from the entente than those formulated last January, they were mistaken, said General Jan Christian Smuts, member of the privy council, in an address, on being given the freedom of the city today.

The American army next year would be bigger than the British and French armies combined, General Smute declared, and would be employed in a great offensive effort then.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK TO MOSELLE RIVER ON BORDER

Famous St. Mihiel Salient Is Completely Obliterated Within 24 Hours After Pershing's Troops Begin Attack.

ADVANCE NOW EXTENDS TO WITHIN FOUR MILES OF OUTER METZ FORTS

Men Fighting Under Stars and Stripes in Splendid Position to Strike Directly at Enemy Soil—British and French Win Local Victories in North.

New York, September 13.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—The American first army has carried out the initial task assigned to it—the leveling of the famous St. Mihiel salient in Lorraine.

In a little more than 24 hours not only has the work been accomplished, but General Pershing's men had all the important towns, villages and strategic positions in the sector within their hands and were standing on the bank of the Moselle river at Pagny, looking across the stream into German territory. And the southern outer fortifications of Metz, the great German stronghold in Lorraine, were only four miles distant.

Large numbers of Germans had been taken prisoner—more than 13,500 had been counted and others were still on their way back to the prisoner cages—and many guns and machine guns and great quantities of ammunition and other war stores were in American hands.

AMERICANS CLOSE NECK OF SALIENT.

From Hattonville, on the north, across the salient eastward to Pagny, the Americans have debouched from of the big sack that extended southward to St. Mihiel, trapping within it by their fast advance all the enemy forces who failed to take refuge in flight when the great bombardment of Thursday morning heralded the approach of the offensive.

In addition, along the eastern side of the heights north of Hattonville the Americans have debouched from the hill region and are astride the railroad running from Commercy to Verdun. Likewise the Thiacourt-Metz and Nancy-Metz railroads are in American hands.

MANY TOWNS TAKEN IN GREAT ADVANCE.

Beginning in the northwest and crossing the salient eastward, Fresnes-les-Eparges, Hattonville, Preny and Pagny and all the ground lying between them are in American hands.

The towns of Vigneulles, Thiacourt, Pont-a-Mousson and St. Mihiel are far in the rear of the present line, Montsec, the dominating height in the center of the salient and from which much trouble had been expected, fell without fighting. Among the numerous prisoners taken were men from Austro-Hungarian armies.

Although the operation of the Americans has been described as having "limited objectives," it cannot but have a most important bearing on the future of the war. From the straightened line growing out of the obliteration of the St. Mihiel salient the Americans now are in a splendid position to act with their brothers in arms on sectors eastward when the time is ripe for a strike into Germany direct. Also they now are aligned on territory from which it is possible to get behind both the Meuse and Moselle rivers, and thus make null the reported plans of the Germans to stabilize their front along the Meuse should they be unable to hold the allies in the west in check.

ALLIED AIRMEN BOMBING METZ.

Already allied airmen are heavily bombing the Morelle region around Metz and its outlying fortifications, having dropped many tons of bombs on the strategic railways leading from the great fortress, and it seemingly is not without reason to expect that with apparent supremacy in the air, Metz and the surrounding country henceforth is to be sadly harassed by the allied flying squadrons.

Meanwhile the maneuverings on the west front around Cambrai and St. Quentin should not be lost sight of by reason of the present American offensive. Here the British and French daily are enlarging their gains in the process of outflanking and capturing these two important towns which are all but within their grasp. Farther to the north in Flanders the British also are keeping up their encroachments in the region of La Bassee and Armentieres, both of which places are imperilled.

GERMAN ATTACKS NEAR CAMBRAI FAIL.

London, September 13.—German troops last night delivered an attack with the co-operation of airplanes on the town of Havrincourt, southwest of Cambrai, recently taken by the British. The attack was repulsed, with great loss to the Germans, Field Marshal Haig announced in his official statement today.

Farther south on the front opposite St. Quentin, the British have gained possession of Holnon wood.

British troops have captured the town of Jeancourt, in the St. Quentin sector north of Vermand.

In Flanders the British made progress, pushing ahead west of Auchy in the La Bassee region.

The text of the statement reads:

"Yesterday English troops gained possession of Holnon wood, driving the enemy from the localities in which he offered resistance.

"Further north our line has been advanced to the east of the village of Jeancourt, which is in our hands.

"In the course of the evening strong hostile forces, assisted by a squadron of low-flying airplanes, attacked our positions at Havrincourt and were repulsed with great loss.

"Opposite Moeuvres hostile infantry assembling for a counter attack were observed and subjected to a heavy and accurate fire by our artillery. The attack which developed subsequently was completely unsuccessful, the few Germans which reached our positions being killed or taken prisoner. Progress was made by our troops during the night to the west of Auchy-les-La Bassee."

London, September 13.—Northwest of St. Quentin the British have gained additional ground around Vermand and Jeancourt and in the region of La Basse have made further progress, according to the official communication issued tonight. In the latter region territory given the British, a wide range over the outlying districts has been reached.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the Vermand and Jeancourt sector northwest of St. Quentin our troops have gained ground in contact with the enemy advanced detachments, and have taken prisoners.

"Southwest of La Bassee our progress has continued in spite of the opposition from hostile machine guns. Our troops have gained possession of Rosse de Dethune and of the slag heap adjoining it. This slag heap, known as 'The Dump,' forms an important local feature, giving wide observation over the surrounding country.

"To the north of it our troops hold the German trench lines immediately west of Auchy-lez La Bassee and are pressing forward into the village. We captured a few prisoners during the night in the neighborhood of Zillebeke lake."

AMERICAN ATTACKS CONTINUING SUCCESSFUL.

Paris, September 13.—The American attacks in the region of St. Mihiel are continuing successfully, the French war office announced today.

On the battle front west of St. Quentin French troops have captured the town of Savy.

The statement reads:

"West of St. Quentin French troops have occupied the village of Savy.

"In the Champagne strong German raids were repulsed.

"In the region of Verdun we made a number of raids and returned with prisoners.

"The American attack in the region of St. Mihiel is continuing with success."

Paris, September 13.—The French have made further progress between Savy and the St. Uuentin-Ham road, and also to the north of Nanteuil-La Fossee, in the Rheims sector, according to the official statement issued by the war office tonight. Two German counter attacks were repulsed in the neighborhood of Laffaux and Moisy.

Paris, Thursday, September 12.—The official statement issued this evening regarding operations in Macedonia says:

Near East, September 11.—There was artillery activity on the whole front. Enemy reconnoitering parties in the regions of the Struma and Cerna rivers were driven off.

Aviation: French and British airplanes dropped more than 400 kilograms of explosives in the region of Demirkapu, Gradsko and Seres."

ALLIES BOMBARDING METZ AND OTHER TOWNS FROM AIR

London, September 13.—While the American first army was pressing forward through the St. Mihiel salient, allied aviators were intensively bombing the German railroads around Metz and Courcelles, according to a communication issued by the air ministry tonight. The aviators also attacked the Metz station and transports with good results.

The text of the air ministry's statement follows:

"On the night of September 12-13 in conjunction with the attack of the American first army the railways at Metz-Sablon and Courcelles (in the eastern outskirts of Metz) were heavily bombed by us with good results.

"The Metz station, searchlights and transports were attacked with machine gunfire.

"On the 13th instant, in favorable weather, operations were continued against the Metz-Sablon and other railway junction sand many troops on the battle front. Nearly eight and a half tons of bombs were dropped, and good results were observed.

"One hostile machine was destroyed. Two of our machines are missing."

NEW REGISTRATION TOTALS 14,000,000

From Early Returns This Is Estimate of Provost Marshal General's Office—Local Boards Hurrying Reports.

Washington, September 13.—Provost Marshal General Crowder today sent this message to General Pershing:

"The nation responded yesterday with an enrollment which promises to exceed all estimates, thus assuring an uninterrupted flow of man power to the army under your command."

Washington, September 13.—First returns today to Provost Marshal General Crowder from the second great mobilization yesterday of the nation's man power for the war on Germany indicated that at least 14,000,000 men had been added to the army reservoir. The estimated number of men between 18 and 21 and 32 and 45 years of age, was 13,000,000.

Ten states widely scattered, and the District of Columbia, gave substantial totals by telegraph during the day, and on these figures, General Crowder announced that these states were exceeding their estimated registration by 8.5 per cent. The returns will not be made public until they have been checked for possible errors. The states reporting were Tennessee, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia and Wisconsin.

Complete returns for all states are expected to be in hand by tomorrow night, at the latest, and some officials believe that they may show a total registration of nearly 15,000,000.

Some local boards, zealous to give the speedy service requested by General Crowder, engaged today in an unexpected race to be the first to report, bringing their returns to Washington in person or sending them by courier. The chairman and secretary, respectively, of locals 39 and 40 in Philadelphia, brought in complete copies of their registration, with serial numbers attached, before the provost marshal general's office was opened. A special messenger from New York brought the record of local No. 157, where the serial numbers and lists classifying the registrants in age groups, were ready five minutes after the offices closed last night. Local board No. 3, in Washington, likewise had finished the numbering as its office was closing.

Complete returns from the registration of August 24, when youths who had reached their 21st year, between that date and June 5, 1918, also were made public today. They showed that 157,963 men had gone into the draft reserves against an estimate of 158,911.

Georgia Registration by Counties

(AS REPORTED UP TO FRIDAY NIGHT).

Sixty-seven local boards out of 165 in the state had reported Friday that 118,290 men had registered in their jurisdictions on Thursday under the selective service law. The reports were made to Major Joel B. Mallet, selective service officer for Georgia, who had estimated that 128,346 men would register in these counties.

Fulton county, which was not included in the counties filing their reports Friday, gave out a report of 4,163 registrants, 3,127 of the number being white. Reports from Augusta and Savannah were also returned Friday. Macon had not been heard from.

One hundred and sixteen thousand nine hundred and seven are citizens of the United States, 467 declarant aliens, 916 non-declarant aliens, 78,035 whites, 45,370 negroes.

GERMAN REPORT ADMITS RETREAT

Claim Is Made That Withdrawal From St. Mihiel Salient, Surrounded by Americans, Was Carried Out by Arrangement.

Berlin, September 13.—(Via London.) "The day was quieter on the fighting front," said the German official communication, issued tonight.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle (where the Americans are carrying out their offensive) the enemy thus far has not renewed his attack."

Berlin Day Report.

Berlin, September 13.—(Via London.) "We now are standing on our new lines which have been prepared," says the official statement reporting military operations on the western front issued today by the German general staff.

"During the night," the statement adds, "the evacuation of the (St. Mihiel) salient, which was liable to encirclement, and which had been under consideration for some years, was completed without interference.

Anticipated Attack.

"In anticipation of the attack of the French and Americans on the St. Mihiel salient we began evacuating this salient a few days ago."

British attacks between Ypres and Armentieres, northwest of Hulluch and on the Arras, Peronne and Cambrai roads, were repulsed.

Havrincourt is in the hands of the enemy.

Vienna Report.

Vienna, September 13.—(Via London.) In the St. Mihiel sector of the western front, Austro-Hungarians south of the Combres height, says the official statement issued today by the Austrian war office, assured the systematic retreat of the Germans.

FOCH ACCEPTS HONOR FROM KNIGHTS COLUMBUS

New York, September 13.—A cablegram from Marshal Foch, accepting the marshal's baton offered him by the Knights of Columbus, and predicting further successes for the American army has been received by James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the organization, it was announced tonight. A reference was made to Metz by the allies' chief may be regarded as significant in view of the American drive in Lorraine.

In its message to Marshal Foch the Knights of Columbus pointed out that Lafayette left his garrison at Metz to help the American colonies.

"It was from Metz that Lafayette went to help your ancestors," said the marshal's reply, "and we shall one day see your victorious banner floating in Metz."

SCHWAB WILL INTERVIEW CROWDER ON THE DRAFT

Philadelphia, September 13.—The shipyards of the country must have 200,000 more men by January 1, if the shipping program is to be carried out, said Charles M. Schwab, director general of the Emergency Fleet corporation, here tonight. He will confer with Provost Marshal General Crowder next Tuesday on the matter of draft exemptions. Large expectations are based upon the men in non-essential industries coming to the plants. The necessary men in the yards must be retained, he said.

Mr. Schwab, however, does not favor blanket exemption for ship workers.

The Emergency Fleet corporation today issued an order that it will not ask exemption or deferred classification by reason of necessary government employment for any employee who would otherwise be placed in class 1 except for those who are essential in furthering the production of ships or equipment. It will, however, ask for exemption or deferred classification by reason of necessary government employment for some employees likely to be placed in classes 2 or 4 if in its opinion these men are necessary to further the production of ships.

CALDER WANTS INQUIRY INTO BUILDING BAN

Washington, September 13.—War industries board orders requiring permits from state councils of defense for all building operations not contributing to the prosecution of the war caused the senate to adopt a resolution today by Senator Calder, of New York, calling upon the board for information as to such orders and the authority under which they were issued. Senator Calder said he had been informed that the orders were so drastic that even a farm silo could not be erected without a permit.

TOTAL REGISTRATION AUGUST 24, 157,963

Washington, September 13.—Registration on August 24 of men who had reached 21 years since June 5, last, added 157,963 men to the nation's man power enrollment, the provost marshal announced today. This was just 48 less than the advance estimate of 158,011. Most of those found available for military service in this group will be on the way to camp during the present month.

Florida, 1,251; Georgia, 3,691; North Carolina, 3,833; South Carolina, 2,532, and Virginia, 3,335.

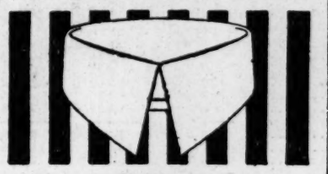

CINCINNATI COPS QUIT; HOME GUARDS ON DUTY

Cincinnati, September 13.—City police on strike today for increased wages caused the home guard to be called out for police duty. The strike started at 3 p. m., after Safety Director Holmes refused to accede to the demands of the men for an increase from $1,260 a year to $1,500 and the reinstatement of men who had been suspended for denying admittance of detectives to a secret meeting of the police, where the ultimatum was being prepared.

Safety Director Holmes answered the threat of the policemen by calling upon the home guards, who mustered for duty tonight at 7 o'clock. From 3 to 7 p. m. the city was protected by only 48 policemen.

Early tonight only a part of the police force was out, but the strikers expected the majority of the policemen to lay down their clubs. No disorder has been reported.

CROSS TELLS HOW HE KEPT ON THE JOB

Was Just About Ready to Quit Work Altogether Because of Trouble—Tanlac Brings Relief.

"I was just about ready to lay down my tools and quit work altogether before I took Tanlac, but now I can work all day long and feel fine all the time," said Frank D. Cross, a well-known carpenter, living at 1115 East End avenue, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

"I had stomach trouble for five years and got so I couldn't eat at all because it made me suffer so. Even a drink of water would pain me and gas would form in my stomach that swelled me up until I could hardly get a good breath. My heart would thump and skip, I was badly constipated, had weak, dizzy spells and was so rundown that I could hardly keep going.

"Tanlac has not only brought back my health and put me in shape to work again, but it has saved me many a dollar besides. All the misery I used to suffer from gas in my stomach and indigestion, is gone. My nerves are restored, my heart has quit bothering me, I haven't a sign of weakness or dizziness and am on the job every day. I wouldn't take a hundred dollars for the good Tanlac did me."

NEW JERSEY AND INDIANA MEN TO VOTE AT GORDON

Registration Booth for Former—Ballots on Hand for New Jersey Men.

New Jersey and Indiana soldiers are now taking steps at Camp Gordon to cast their ballots in their state elections, which are slated to take place in the very near future.

A registration booth has been installed for the past several days for the Indiana men at "Y" 150, and scores of them have made their appearance and gotten in line for voting.

Camp headquarters announced Friday that a number of ballots for New Jersey soldiers are on hand and can be secured upon request from the office of the personnel adjutant. The primary election of the state takes place on September 24, but soldier ballots can be prepared at any time.

Pool Rooms Win Fight to Remain Open During Day

Opponents of Measure Assert That Police Have All Power Necessary to Prevent Loafing Under Work or Fight Law.

At a meeting of the police committee of council Friday afternoon a spirited contest was waged over the question of closing the Atlanta pool rooms during the hours of the day, and allowing them to open only between 6 p. m. and 11 p. m., and after hearing from both sides of the question the ordinance which had been referred to the commitee by council was tabled, pending the enforcement of the "work or fight" law that was passed by the recent Georgia legislature. Councilman C. L. Carpenter, however, dissented from the majority, voting against tabling the measure.

Attorney John Y. Smith, one of the representatives of Fulton, who voted for the above-mentioned law against loafers, represented the pool and billiard room men, and read a petition in which he showed great loss would accrue to those who had their money invested in these places should they be forced to lose the revenue that would result from closing them for more than half their business time. Mr. Smith also showed that long-term leases were made for many of the places, and that a failure to pay one month's rent would lay the tenant liable to payment for the full term.

Police Have Power.

Mr. Smith argued that the police department, which was under legal obligations to enforce the "work or fight" law, could do more toward disposing of the loafers in the city than would the closing of the pool rooms, and said that the pool rooms being open would aid the police in detecting the habitual loafers.

Mr. Smith was followed by Rev. John W. Ham, of the Tabernacle Baptist church, who gave figures showing the number of men he found in the poolrooms of the city Thursday during the hours of registration, from 2:30 to 4 p. m., and urged the closing of the poolrooms during the day as a means of conserving labor.

Former Councilman Warren spoke in favor of the poolrooms being allowed to run, saying that he knew nothing about the game, and did not approve of it, but declaring it to be his judgement that closing for a limited period would not have any effect upon the number of loafers. "If the poolrooms are wrong," said Mr. Warren, "council should close them altogether, but if they are not wrong, council has not more right to hurt the business of these places by such action as is proposed than it has to attack any other investment."

John W. Grant, owner of property rented to poolroom owners, spoke against the proposed ordinance, saying that although he lose nothing, perhaps, by the failure of these places, yet he did not think it just to take such action against them, especially in view of the remedy that is offered through the work-or-fight law against loafing.

Workingmen Play.

A regular pool player also spoke before the committee, in which he, saying among other things, that 90 per cent of those who played pool and billiards were working men, and that the poolroom is the poor man's club. He admitted, however, that poolrooms are often the gathering place of robbers and gamblers who seek to prey upon others, but declared it to be his opinion that the enforcement of the work-or-fight law would drive away this class of men.

Chairman Little declared that the measure was directed principally against the negro poolrooms where negroes loafed while the city garbage carts and other city work was left undone for want of help.

When a vote of the committee was taken it was found that all the members tabling the ordinance with the exception of Councilman Carpenter, who voted against such action.

FRIDAY, THE 13TH, UNLUCKY IN U. S.; LUCKY IN FRANCE

"Friday, the 13th," the jinx day, according to the superstitious, has come and gone, without any great disaster, and every one now breathes easier.

Many Atlantans, who came to work Friday, glanced at the clock and then wondered why they were 15 minutes late, only to find that the boss had arrived ahead of time. Some claimed that they missed the early morning car, others couldn't get breakfast in time, for the cook hadn't come and the wife had to take her place, and others fell back upon the old reliable—the alarm clock that didn't alarm.

And no one could tell the reason for all their misfortunes until a casual glimpse at the calendar showed that it was Friday and the 13th at the same time.

But while "over here" divers and sundry things happened, "over there" was one of the very luckiest days of the year—which only proves that there are exceptions to all rules.

It was the birthday of the greatest of American generals, and just to show their appreciation the troops of General Pershing mopped up. The only people "over there" who think the day was an unfortunate one was the German prisoners and those in high command who have to explain to the German people how it all happened.

TWO WATERMELONS WILL BE AUCTIONED FOR THE RED CROSS

Two of the largest watermelons ever grown in the state of Georgia will be auctioned off tonight for the benefit of the Red Cross. One of them will be auctioned off at the dance at the Capital City club tonight at 9 o'clock, and the other will be taken to East Lake and will be auctioned at the club house. Forrest Adair will be the auctioneer, and from the success in his previous auction sales he will undoubtedly raise a fine sum of money for the Red Cross from these two melons.

The melons were grown by Allen R. Johnson, of Dodge county, the originator and grower of the famous "Excel" variety of watermelons, which are known throughout the country for their size and excellent flavor. Mrs. Ulric Atkinson is in charge of the auction, taking the place of Mrs. Joseph Raine, who has been called out of the city.

Child Hurt by Auto.

Marcelia Wells, a 4-year-old girl, was painfully injured early Friday night, when she was struck by an automobile near the corner of Fair street and Moreland avenue. She was rushed to the Grady hospital, sustaining severe bruises about the head and face. According to the authorities at the hospital, she was brought to the hospital by the man who was driving the automobile which struck her, but he left some time afterwards without giving his name, it is said. The police are investigating the accident. It is not believed the child's injuries will prove serious. The little girl lives at 1166 East Fair street.

Interesting Letters Received in Atlanta From Boys in France

Lieutenant Henry E. Fulghum, who is now with the United States air force in France, writes very interestingly of some of the experiences of an aviator. He says they make a great many mistakes, which results in their death in many cases, for it is natural for a man above the ground to get nervous, but the thing to do is to wait if one has time to wait, until he gets his bearing, and in most cases he will land safely.

Sergeant L. W. Brogden, of the 326th infantry band, 82d division, has written his mother, Mrs. S. E. Brogden, at Suwanee, Ga., stating that the boys certainly fare well. He says that they are able to buy milk very cheaply where he is stationed, and his enumeration of the articles of food which are at his disposal sound rather interesting to a boy here at home who has to patronize the average grocery store.

News has reached Atlanta from one of the men of the company of Captain Joe Brown Connally, in which Captain Connally is commended very highly. "He is a fine officer and helps us in every way possible," says the letter. Captain Connally commands the supply company of the 326th regiment of the 82d division, which trained at Camp Gordon.

David Howard, of Company A, 151st machine gun battalion, A. E. F., has written a letter to his sister, Miss Mary Howard, of 83 McDaniel street, in which he states that he has had the pleasure of killing several hundred Germans with his machine gun. He says he used three or four thousand rounds of ammunition, and the Germans fell faster than one could count them.

Lieutenant Albert S. Burch, of the 236th infantry, which trained at Camp Gordon, who is in France and who also has two brothers there, writes that he is in a French hospital convalescing from a wound received on September 4. He hopes to be back on the front soon and help to keep the Germans on the run.

Ralph C. Randolph, a member of the famous Rainbow division, in France, has written Mrs. L. T. Moore, of 121 Forrest avenue, saying that the Germans are the most unfair fighters in the world, and what they are getting now from the American boys is just what they deserve.

Henley Safe "Overseas."

Resinol surely did relieve that eczema!

Pack up some Resinol Ointment in his "old kit bag." Nothing is too good for him, and he will need it "over there" where exposure, vermin, contagions, and the exigencies of a soldier's life cause all sorts of skin irritation, itching, sore feet and suffering.

Resinol Ointment stops itching almost instantly. It heals little sores before they can become big ones. It assures skin comfort.

CLAIM EXEMPTION FOR RAILWAY MEN

McAdoo Issues List of Those Employees Who Should Not Be Called to Colors Under Draft Law.

Washington, September 13.—Regional directors of the railroad administration were instructed today to claim deferred draft classification for railroad general officers, shopmen, trainmen, skilled yard men, road and maintenance of way foremen and skilled workers, telephone and telegraph operators and other essential employees.

Aside from employees named on the list sent to the regional directors the administration said deferred classification should be obtained for others clearly necessary, the federal managers using the greatest care and discretion in doing so.

Full List.

Following are those on the list:

General officers, master mechanics, roundhouse and shop foremen, machinists, blacksmiths, boilermakers, tin and coppersmiths, pipe fitters, electricians, freight car and passenger car repair men and inspectors, helpers and apprentices of the foregoing, chemists, locomotive inspectors, gang leaders, superintendents and assistant superintendents, train masters and assistant train masters, train dispatches and direct yardmasters and assistants, road foremen and engines and assistants, traveling engineers, firemen, inspectors, locomotive engineers and motormen, locomotive firemen and helpers, conductors, brakemen and flagmen, train baggagemen and express messengers, yard foremen and helpers, hostlers, engine house men, telegraphers and telephone block operators, telegraph clerks, maintenance of way engineers, division engineers, roadmasters, field engineers, supervisors, construction foremen, section foremen, bridge builders and water service foremen, bridge building and ship and wharf carpenters, signal maintenance men and telegraph and telephone maintainers.

Must Exercise Care.

"As to employees not in the foregoing list," said the administration's instructions, "the federal managers should exercise the greatest care and discretion to aid in obtaining deferred classification for those clearly necessary, while refraining from taking this step in other cases, where a given position can be reasonably filled by promotion of an outsider, male or female, no effort to secure deferred classification should be made. The mere question of inconvenience or increased expense is not sufficient for regarding an employee as necessary. But where, on account of the character of the work, of the complete lack of availability of another to do the work, the existing incumbent is really necessary, the federal managers should take all practicable steps to secure deferred classification.

"The railroad under government control is an essential industrial agency. Its necessary employee should be given deferred classification. It is desired that the federal managers give this matter their active personal attention to make sure that deferred classification is properly claimed for employees that are necessary and also that no such claim is made where it can be reasonably avoided, since the making of unnecessary claims is both unfair to the government in its work of creating the necessary military and naval forces, and injurious to the railroad administration in its efforts to secure deferred classification for employees who are really necessary."

Railroad administration officials estimated that more than two-thirds of the 2,000,000 railroad employees are included in the groups for which deferred classification is to be asked.

UNITED WAR DRIVE PLAN IS INDORSED

ble and unquotable way, proceeded to dramatize his experiences with the soldiers in the huts and at the firing line, showing the part that the various war work organizataions play in the life and morale of the fighting man.

Praises United Drive Plan.

He praised the wisdom of President Wilson in calling for a united drive, and declared that it is just the sort of thing he has been preaching for 41 years. "Need is the only creed over there," and he illustrated this by the story of some 800 Roman Catholics from Munster, Ireland, who came regularly to enjoy the recreations and meetings at a Y. M. C. A. hut, where he was staying.

Mr. Smith told of an experience in the cellar of a house that was completely demolished, his life being saved only by the sliding of a shell on the ice, which prevented it from exploding. He also has been up where the fighting was going on. "I held my head up, too," he said, "for it won't do to talk about the love that casteth out fear and then flop."

With patriotic admiration for his country—England—he paid high tribute to the sacrifices she has made in the war. There have been in the four years of war 400,000 Englishmen buried in France, he said. His countrymen are now only eating three-quarters of a pound of meat in seven days. "We are cleaning up our plates and licking the kaiser," he added.

"How many of you have had letters on Y. M. C. A. paper?" he asked, challengingly, and when practically every hand went up, he went on: "I hope you'll pay for it some day. Indulging in luxuries now spells s-e-l-f, and s-e-l-f is pronounced Germany."

Dr. Jones Speaks.

Dr. M. Ashby Jones, representing the War Camp Community Service, spoke on the "Spirit of a Nation in the Making of an Army." In his forceful manner he pictured the gradual growth of the American army, an army that, despite senatorial criticism and prophecy, "shattered the last spearhead of German offensive when it raised its deadly head and pierced the heart of France." He spoke of Chateau Thierry as the meadow of American manhood.

"We know now," Dr. Jones said, "that the German military machine started out from Berlin to go around he world. It got no further than the Marne. Officers are still studying the strategy that 'stopped them at the Marne,' but I think I can tell you what happened. The German machine met French spirit and couldn't gett by it."

Dr. Jones ascribed to the hospitality huts that extend throughout the camps and all over the fighting zone and light up dark and lonesome nights for the soldiers a great part of the spirit that keeps them clean-bodied and gives them the determination to fight to the death if necessary for American homes.

Something of what the Y. W. C. A. is doing for the Red Cross nurses overseas was told by Miss Katie Boyd George, who has just returned from France. "They need some place to come and rest after their work," she said, and explained how the Y. W. C. A. fills the recreational need.

Work of the Y. W. C. A.

She described graphically a French village made up largely of women munition workers, where there are actually no places to live. Five or six women live in a badly ventilated room. Some beds are slept in all around the clock—one woman being allowed eight hours' rest in it, then another, then another—so that the full twenty-four hours were used up. There were no means of recreation in such towns until the Y. W. C. A. began erecting homelike huts which offer places for community gatherings and movie shows.

The Canadian army was represented by Captain George S. Dingle, who was regularly commissioned by his government for work with the Y. M. C. A. He told of Canada's part in the war, and brought tremendous applause when he said, "We have never lost a gun yet; we have never failed to reach an objective that was set; we have never lost a foot of ground we were told to hold."

He described the war work which is being undertaken by the various organizations as the best investment that can be made, for it brings returns in mind, body and spirit. "The Y. M. C. A. tent was doing business on the slope two hours after Vimy ridge was taken," Captain Dingle asserted.

Convention Opens.

The United War Work convention opened its sessions Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Capital City club. There were speakers during the day representing all the activities interested in the drive. Rabbi Marx spoke in behalf of the Hebrew Welfare association; Brigadier General A. W. Crawford, for the Salvation army; Father McGregor, of Camp Gordon, for the Knights of Columbus, and Dr. L. M. Ramey for the American Library association. There were speakers from the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. also.

L. Porter Moore, publicity director of the entire campaign in the southeast, spoke in the afternoon, outlining the plans for the kind and extent of publicity that will be required to make the mammoth undertaking a success. After nis address the rest of the afternoon was devoted to district conferences.

The meetings will be resumed this morning at 9 o'clock at the Capital City club.

FREE FOR YOUR BOY!

A College Education, Military Training, Board, Uniforms, Tuition and $30 a Month Pay at the Wish and Expense of the United States Government at

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

THE SOUTH'S LEADING INSTITUTION OF LEARNING

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Never before have patriotic young men of the country had such an opportunity to serve the nation at this crisis and at the same time secure university training at the wish and expense of the government.

President Wilson desires every young man of 18 to 21 years of age, subject to the selective service, who is prepared to enter college, to do so. He will thus become a member of the United States Army and receive the regular pay of a private soldier, $30 per month, in addition to his tuition, board, lodging, uniforms, military and university training.

A university of such high standing and so well known as Vanderbilt will necessarily attract a large number of these students.

Ordinarily many young men out of high and preparatory schools and prepare to enter college are not able to bear the expense. The government appreciates this fact and says to such a young man, "You are needed for higher military training and a commission in the army, if you make good, and the government will bear the expense of your training.

It is a choice between that and the regular army training camp—a choice of being a private in the army or an exceptional opportunity for educational training, at the government's expense, with an officer's commission in view.

The creation of this new branch of the service at the direction of President Wilson is for the purpose of training all possible material for future officers for the army.

On this great student body, in this new branch of educational and military training, our country must depend for officer material to train and lead the possible millions of men we must yet send across to the aid of our brothers in arms and help them to drive the Hun across the Rhine and visit upon him the desolation he so unnecessarily visited on our allies.

Those who now enlist under the new plan are fitting themselves to become officers in such way as the government may hereafter designate, either by finishing a special course in the college or by entering special officers' training camps in the regular army camps.

It is the patriotic duty of every man within the ages of 18 to 21 to enter for this training. He thus enters the service of the United States, becoming a member of the United States army. From that time he receives from the government his board, lodging, tuition, uniforms and the pay of a private, $30 a month.

One who has been in college, or who is prepared to enter Vanderbilt, should therefore register at his home place on September 12. He should then enter upon his college duties at the opening of Vanderbilt on September 30.

The nature of this work at Vanderbilt will be the fundamental infantry training. Men well grounded in this are good officer material in the other branches of the army, such as the artillery, machine gun, aviation, etc.

Major E. S. Benton, of the United States Army, and Lieutenant C. P. Kohn, have been designated by the government as officers of the Vanderbilt Students' Army Training Corps and are already at the university arranging for the organization of the corps. They will be aided by about fifteen Vanderbilt students, who are now in the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan.

When you enter the Students' Army Training Corps at Vanderbilt you are then in the active service of the United States government, just as if you had been called by your local board.

If you are doing work in the Students' Army Training Corps when your number in the draft is reached you may be either transferred to a central officers' training camp or assigned to Vanderbilt for further intensive work in a specified line. This is the advantage you have in enrolling in the Vanderbilt Students' Army Training Corps.

ADVANTAGES OF VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

Vanderbilt University is the pride of Nashville and of the whole South. The influence of this institution is felt in every state in the Union. Her graduates hold leading positions in every walk of life.

There is no more attractive spot in Nashville than the campus of Vanderbilt. It covers seventy-six acres of highly elevated ground, beautifully and tastefully laid out in drives and walks, ornamented with more than 150 varieties of shade trees, flower plots and other attractive features.

Buildings thoroughly modern and modernly equipped throughout—steam-heated, electric-lighted, city water and gas. Dormitories all that could be desired in arrangement, accessibility, accommodations and comfort.

This magnificent institution stands as a monument to the Vanderbilt family of New York. It was founded in 1873 by Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who gave $1,000,000 for this purpose. Further liberal donations have been made by other members of the Vanderbilt family, Mr. Carnegie and others, until today Vanderbilt University has an endowment of $4,000,000.

Vanderbilt University has for many years been regarded as the leading institution for the academic and medical training of young men in the Southeast.

Its endowment of $4,000,000; its large and capable teaching force; its buildings and equipment; its student body; its high standards have drawn young men from all parts of the South and the nation.

Therefore, young man, if you are within the draft age and are qualified to enter college, this is the best opportunity of your life—a college education at Vanderbilt, military training, board, uniforms, tuition and $30 per month pay.

NASHVILLE THE ATHENS OF THE SOUTH

Its advantage as an educational center has unquestioned prestige over its sister cities of the South

Nashville has long been regarded as the educational center of the South. It is centrally located, easily accessible, free from extremes of heat and cold, healthy and surrounded by a fertile and productive territory. Considerations of health and convenience draw thousands of students every year to its various educational institutions, and the presence of these institutions increases the collective opportunity for literary and musical entertainments and cultural advantages of every kind.

Among its more than a hundred schools, public and private, every order, seemingly, is represented, from the kindergarten to the university, and from a military to a convent school.

Besides Vanderbilt University, there is the George Peabody College for Teachers, the best endowed and the best equipped institution for the training of men and women teachers in the whole South. Peabody College will also conduct a Students' Army Training Corps, where, in addition to the military feature, thorough college training may be had in more than 300 different courses. The Ward-Belmont College for Girls—almost from its inception this school has enjoyed a national patronage and at the present time numbers among its students girls from almost every state in the union. Every year the demand for rooms exceeds the capacity of the school, and in order to gain admission early registration has become necessary.

One of the oldest schools in Nashville for young ladies is St. Cecilia Academy. It was founded in 1860, and is conducted by the Dominican sisters. This school is one of the most thoroughly equipped educational institutions for young ladies in the United States.

Buford College is another Nashville educational institution for the higher education of young ladies. Mrs. Buford, at its head, has gained a national reputation for the correct training and thorough education of women, and graduates from this college are now living in almost every state of the union.

Nashville's preparatory schools are second to none in the whole South. Wallace University School has been a standard for over a quarter of a century, and is most thorough in its work of training young men for college. Montgomery Bell Academy, for boys, founded in 1867, has made an enviable record extending over all these years, and its endowment by Montgomery Bell assures permanency. Duncan, Bowen and other preparatory schools afford the boys of Nashville and vicinity ample and unexcelled facilities for academic education.

Nashville is also the home of the famous Fisk University, Roger Williams University and Walden University. These three institutions for the higher education of the Negro are without equals on the continent.

A Student Army Training Corps will be established at Fisk, where the capable colored young men may also secure a college education and military training at the government's expense.

MRS. MARY A. LIPSCOMB.

Lipscomb, of Atlanta; one daughter, Mrs. William D. Ellis, Jr., of Atlanta. Mrs. Ewell Gay and Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., both of Atlanta ,are her granddaughters. Miss Mildred Rutherford, of Athens, is her sister.

Mrs. Lipscomb was the daughter of the late Professor Williams Ruther, ford, of Georgia, for a number of years a member of the faculty of the University of Georgia. She was the widow of the late Francis A. Lipscomb, also a member of the faculty of the university and an officer in the confederate army. Her mother was Miss Laura Cobb, and she was related to the most prominent people of the state. Among her cousins are Judge Andrew Cobb, of Athens; Mrs. Hcke Smith, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. A. J. Orme, Mrs. Welborn Hill, Mrs. Lucian Cocke, of Roanoke, Va.; Mrs. Philip Weltner and Mrs. Vassar Woolley, of Atlanta.

In that period after the war, when the fortunes of the people of the south were depleted, Mrs. Lipscomb and her sister, Miss Rutherford, were among the women of the state who went bravely forward to apply their talents and culture, and to aid in the reconstructive work in which the young as well as more matured women of the south were participants.

Established Lucy Cobb.

In the Lucy Cobb institute they became principal and teacher, and established that institution as one of the best known in the southern states.

Daughters of the best-known people in the country have received their education there, and graduates of the Lucy Cobb represent the qualities of the women who taught there and are the best type of women the south has produced.

Holding still to the ideals, traditions and customs of the old south, Mrs. Lipscomb has been one of the leaders in all that has come to mean the best in the new south. She was a member of the first Georgia chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the Confederacy. She was a charter member of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and for several years the president of that organization.

Mrs. Lipscomb applied her knowledge of dramatic art to most useful purposes, and there was no more gifted platform speaker in the state. Her addresses before the various public meetings where the work of the organized women of the state brought her, were gems of thought and graceful expression.

Varied Activities.

She was the initiative spirit in the organization of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school, which is maintained by the club women of Georgia. She was its first director, and has made many substantial contributions to its success.

In the varied activities of her full and useful life, Mrs. Lipscomb never separated herself from the ideals of home, and she was an inspiration both as wife and mother.

She knew the highest art of hospitality, and in her beautiful home in Athens she dispensed that hospitality generously and gracefully.

Mrs. Lipscomb was taken ill at her country home at Tallulah about two months ago. She was brought to Atlanta for treatment. Realizing that the end was near she begged to be taken home—and it was in this much loved home, surrounded by relatives and friends, she passed into the Great Beyond.

Boys' Organization In United War Drive Named "Victory Boys"

Boys of the south will be known as "The Victory Boys" during the United War Work campaign in November, in which $170,500,000 will be raised to assure continuance of the work here and abroad of the seven recognized war agencies.

Before the merger of the organizations was decided upon by President Wilson, the boys' part in the drive was known as "The Red Triangle Boys," but the consolidation of all the forces joining to make the fighters happy, considered the boys' movement better named when called "The Victory Boys."

Earn and give will be the purpose of the boys' work in the campaign. The chief aim of "The Victory Boys" is the development of the boys in intelligent, sacrificial investment of their lives in behalf of the "great cause."

In enrolling to be a unit in "The Victory Boys" each boy will designate the amount he decides upon.

The girls of the southland will also join with those of the other sections of the country in a similar phase of the campaign, and to be known as "The Victory Girls."

Do You Need Glasses?

"You will find that all business houses that have grown from little to big have, somewhere or other, given their customers a share of their profits, until they became so large that they did not need the customer who looks for savings in price, and then such houses talk about their superior service and scientific methods of accounting."

We are not so large that we do not need the business of the customer who desires to economize in the cost of glasses. We do need it, and we propose to deserve it by furnishing you glasses a little better, and at a price a little smaller for the quality than you will find elsewhere.

Our service is good, of course, but you are chiefly interested in the quality of the glasses you get, and the cost.

Bring us the oculist's prescription, or see us for new lenses or frames. You will be glad you came.

CAPTAIN THOMPSON DIES.

Had Served for Twenty Years on Police Force.

Captain John A. Thompson, 433 Grant street, for twenty years a member of the Atlanta police force, died Friday morning at 8 o'clock at a private hospital. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Georgia Thompson, and by eight children, Misses Susie and Nell Thompson, Mrs. J. H. Rousey, Mrs. N. E. Pittman, Mrs. L. C. Kilgo, A. M. Thompson, Homer Thompson and Private G. C. Thompson, of the Eleventh cavalry. He was 69 years old at the time of his death.

Captain Thompson was one of the oldest members of the Atlanta police force, having been on the force since 1885, and remained constantly on duty until 1905, at which time he was retired. During the twenty years he rose from patrolman to sergeant and from sergeant to captain. He was personally very popular with all the men on the force and was noted for his strictness in the performance of his duty. He did his duty well and always expected the strictest obedience from his men. He was the son of a Confederate veteran.

The body is at the chapel of Harry G. Poole, and funeral arrangeemnts will be announced later.

ATLANTA AD CLUB DISCUSSES SERVICE TO WIN THE WAR

The share of the Atlanta Advertising club in winning the war is the great question before that body, and from now on the organization will continue without slackening its efforts in promoting the public good, according to Walter C. Hill, the new president, who began his administration Friday at a meeting of the club that was held at the Kimball house. Mr. Hill was introduced by Frank Lowenstein, the former president.

Mr. Hill made an interesting address on his recent visit to the convention in San Francisco of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, of which William C. D'Arcy, an advertising expert of national fame, is president. He said that owing to Mr. D'Arcy's wide experience with the national committee on public information, he was enabled to tell how this organization could aid in bringing the present war to a speedy close. As advertising is the forethought of business, and the war cannot continue without business continuing to assist in the success of allied armies, according to Mr. Hill, the advertising clubs must make business seadfast, so that all of its service may be rendered to the government.

Captain Milton State, chief recruiting officer of the Canadian army, was the guest of honor at the club, and delivered a splendid address on his experiences during the war.

A private showing of Liberty Loan posters for the coming campaign was held at the meeting by St. Elmo Massengale, publicity director for this district. The posters represented the work of some of the foremost artists in America.

MEMBERS OF CHURCH WILL PUT THE ROOF ON BUILDING TODAY

Members and friends of the Nellie Dodd Methodist church, at the corner of Washington street and Ridge avenue, are going to exhibit their loyalty to the government by saving the expense of hiring carpenters and other workmen, and are going to put a new roof on the church this afternoon. The members of the church realize that there is a shortage of labor, and the government is in need of all the skilled labor in the country, and they reasoned it that it was a very small matter for them to get together and put this roof on in one afternoon and save a great deal both to themselves and the United States.

The pastor, Rev. J. P. Wolford, has invited all friends of the church to come between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock, and they expect to put the roof on and clear away the rubbish and have everything in shape for the Sunday services. After the work has been completed there is to be an outdoor service this afternoon, and the ladies of the church are to provide supper for all those who work.

On October 13 there will begin a special series of meetings in a big tent in front of the church, and it is expected that some time during the next year the congregation will be able to erect a new building on the lot now owned by the church. The Sunday school room is used for all services at present.

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE FORMED BY CITIZENS IN THE THIRD WARD

The citizens of the Third ward have banded themselves into a patriotic league for the purpose of having an organization of a permanent nature that will be ready at all times to execute any patriotic work that may be demanded of them, such, for instance, as the registration and other governmental work in which citizens are asked to take part.

The charter membership of the new league is about 80 men, and this will be augmented from time to time.

The citizens of the Third ward did admirable work last Thursday in aiding the registration of more than 3,000 men under the new many-power draft law.

C. M. Holland was named permanent chairman of the new patriotic organization, and C. H. Geery was elected to the place of secretary.

FAIR WEATHER TODAY, SAYS THE FORECASTER

The weather will be fair in Atlanta and vicinity today according to the report from the United States weather bureau: Georgia—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday, without decided change in temperature, is the report from the Washington office.

Except that very light local showers fell at Montgomery, Birmingham and Atlanta, generally fair, mostly clear weather, continues to prevail throughout the cotton belt. The northern rain area has advanced eastward across the middle states to New England. In the west and northwest, as well as in the great central valley, fair weather continues.

Temperatures are now nearly normal in most sections, and the 7 a. m. temperature ranging from 80 degrees at Key West to 44 degrees at Williston and Havre. Very warm weather prevails on the middle Pacific coast with rains, San Francisco reporting a large amount.

The pressure is moderately high over the western cotton belt, and conditions are favorable for a continuation of fair weather.

War-Time Hints for the Housekeeper

Try Sea Beef Some Day

Prepared for The Constitution by the United States Food Administration at Washington

There's always something new under the sun. Did you ever hear of sea beef? Its other name is whale, and ten to one you have never eaten it. Very likely you can buy it in your market now, for the United States bureau of fisheries is lending its aid to distribute it throughout the country. It is a good food if properly cooked. These recipes are suggested by the United States food administration:

Whale Steak.

Whale steak cut half-inch thick; hot water, baking soda (one teaspoon to every quart water), pepper, salt, little butter, few drops of Worcestershire sauce, parsley. Dip for a minute in hot water containing one teaspoon of baking soda to the quart of water. Grease the wires of a broiler or a frying pan and allow the pan to become quite hot. Put the steak in and sear quickly on both sides. Reduce the heat slightly, cook for about three minutes and allow to brown well. Remove to a hot platter, sprinkle with pepper and salt, dot over with butter, add a few drops of Worcesterahire sauce. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

Whale Steak.

Oone and a half or two pounds whale meat, hot water, soda (one teaspoon to one quart of water), one teaspoon fat, carrots, onions, parsnips, potatoes, parsley, two and half or three tablespoons floud (corn flour may be used) to each cup of liquid, pepper, salt, few drops Worcestershine sauce. Dip the meat for a minute in hot water containing soda (one teaspoon soda to one quart water). Remove from water, drain well and sear until brown in a frying pan containing the fat. Cut the meat in cubes, cover well with boiling water and allow to simmer gently 3¼ hours. About three-quarters of an hour before serving add the vegetables and finely chopped parsley. When thoroughly cooked arrange meat and vegetables on a hot platter. Thicken the gravy by adding 2½-3 tablespoons of browned flour to every cup of liquid and season with pepper, salt and a few drops of Worcestershire sauce. A small quantity of tomato sauce, well seasoned, and added to the gravy improves the flavor very much. Pour the gravy over the stew or serve in a separate gravy dish as desired.

Pot Roast of Whale.

Four pounds whale meat, warm soda water, one teaspoon pickling spice, half bay leaf, three sprigs chopped parsley, one chopped onion, boiling water to cover. Cut whale meat in square or oblong shape. Dip in warm soda water for three minutes. Drain thoroughly and sear well on all sides in a hot greased frying pan. Put the meat in a large saucepan. Drop in a small cheesecloth bag containing pickling spice, bay leaf, chopped parsley, chopped onion and cover well with boiling water. Simmer slowly for 4½ hours. If roasting more than 3½-4 pounds of meat, cut it in two parts so that it will not take so long to cook. Serve hot with brown onion or tomato parsley sauce.

Braised Whale Roast.

Three and a half to four pounds whale meat, warm soda water, butter or beef fat, half bay leaf, half teaspoon pickling spice, three sprigs parsley, one sliced onion, hot water. Dip in warm soda water for three minutes. Drain thoroughly and sear well on all sides in hot greased frying pan. Dot the surface well with butter or pieces of beef fat. Put in a covered meat pan with a small cheesecloth bag containing bay leaf, pickling spice, parsley, sliced onion and hot water to depth of one inch. Cook very slowly in a moderate oven for about three hours, basting well with the fat and water every fifteen minutes, gradually allowing the water to lessen. Serve hot with brown onion or tomato parsley sauce.

COUNCIL WILL ACT ON "SKIP-STOP" PLAN FOR STREET RAILWAY

After hearing from President Preston Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, with reference to the "skip-stop" plan of taking passengers on the street cars in Atlanta, the street committee of council Friday afternoon appointed a committee to work out the details of the plan as touching city ordinances and to report to the next meeting of council, Monday afternoon next.

The "skip-stop" plan, explained in a few words, means the stopping of street cars at every two blocks, instead of at the end of each block, as now practiced. There are many instances in the city where the car stations are in the middle of blocks, and in that case the cars will, after the application of the new schedule, ignore the midway stop.

Mr. Arkwright read a communication from the fuel administration, in which the plans were urged upon the street railway companies in the interest of the salvage of fuel and electric energy. It is a well-known fact among technical men that much more power is required to operate a car system where many stops and starts are made than under conditions where the vehicles continue to run for long distances without being forced to stop, and it is upon this theory that the fuel administration is now urging the street railway companies to reduce the number of stops required of their cars. It is considered likely that the Georgia railroad commission, under whose jurisdiction matters of this kind come, will order that the new plan be put into execution at once.

The committee of city council, which was appointed by the street committee yesterday afternoon, will work out the details of the new stopping plan with officers of the street car company, and all ordinances that are in the code of the city that would interfere with the new conservation plan will be adjusted.

The committee will report Monday to council, when the city fathers will take whatever action is within their province, thereby hastening the application of the new plan.

ATHENS AND AUGUSTA ASK HIGHER FARES

Petition of the Athens Railway and Electric company for an increase in street car fare from 5 cents to 7 cents was filed with the railroad commission Friday. The company also asked for an increase in light and power rates. Hearing of the petition of the Augusta and Akin Electric company, which operates the trolley car system of Augusta, for an increase of street car fares from 5 cents to 10 cents, was continued by the commission from Friday until the matter could be investigated more fully.

The commission decided that it had no jurisdiction in the Atlanta case, and Macon fares were raised by the Macon city council.

Belgian at Camp Jessup.

Sergeant Emile Gomoets, who is a native of Belgium, but a citizen of the United States, is now serving in the army as cook. He is stationed at Camp Jessup, where he is also a French instructor. He holds classes several times a week in the Y. M. C. A. building there. He was born in Belgium and came to this country with his parents when he was quite young. He spent most of his life in Texas, on the Mexican border. He says he is proud to fight for the allies and help avenge the wrongs done his mother country by the Huns.

VANDERBILT MAKES BID FOR MILITARY TRAINING

Vanderbilt University Takes Enterprising Step for Military Training Service.

The pretentious bid made through the advertising columns of this and other leading newspapers throughout the south by Vanderbilt university for the training of young men for military service, is one of the most enterprising steps ever taken by a southern educational institution.

Vanderbilt university appears to be eminently fitted for this particular branch of instruction provided for by the United States government, whereby young men from 18 to 21 may have the advantages of a college education, thorough military training under government officials, board, uniform, tuition and $30 a month pay at both the wish and expense of the government.

The university covers 76 acres of highly elevated ground, attractively laid out. Its four million-dollar endowment by the Vanderbilt family, enables the institution to provide facilities which are eminently adapted to this special work.

Upon this students' army trained corps at this and other schools our government must depend for officer material to train and lead great armies of men that we must yet send across to help our brothers in arms who have gone before, to drive the Hun across the Rhine and plant the Flag of Freedom on the towers of Potsdam.

WOMAN CAPTURED WHILE OPERATING HUN MACHINE GUN

Lieutenant Harris Irvine, of the Seventeenth infantry, who has seen some of the worst fighting of the war in the Chateau Thierry salient, has written his mother, Mrs. W. H. Irvine, of 59 West Thirteenth street, some very interesting facts concerning the boys in France, the way they live and the hardships they have to endure. He says: "We went through the most tremendous artillery preparation the Germans have ever put across and then held them with rifle fire when they crossed the river; that is those who were left alive, held them. We saved Paris and blocked the offensive; then we crossed the Marne and fought the German rear guard for seventeen days, gaining every day and driving them toward Germany, but doing without food and sleep to do it. Almost the only time we could sleep was when the German artillery would locate us and begin shelling us. Then we would lie down in the gullies and under banks along the side of the road until the Germans thought we were dead and would stop shelling."

"I commanded Company I after July 14 until the officers of Company M were all killed, then a second lieutenant got Company I (which hasn't but 90 men left), and I took Company M with a second lieutenant to help me. A German woman was captured while operating a machine gun, so I think men are getting scarce in Germany, also a lot of the prisoners were boys 16 years old and others very old men. We had the Prussians against us, the very best men Germany has, and they fought like fiends and holy terrors, very much like the Indians. In fact, all this fighting is like J. Fenimore Cooper used to write about, sneaking around on hands and knees, lying hidden in the woods, dodging airplane observations, etc."

WHEELBARROW BET PAID IN DEKALB ON FRIDAY

The old-fashioned bet involving a wheelbarrow ride through the streets, the winner riding and the loser furnishing the motive power for the undignified vehicle, was made by E. F. Tuggle and T. F. Anderson, of Decatur, and Mr. Tuggle was forced to wheel Mr. Anderson 1,400 yards about the DeKalb county courthouse because he (Tuggle) wagered that Schley Howard would poll a heavier popular vote than would Thomas W. Hardwick in the primary election. A large crowd gathered about the courthouse Friday morning to see the somewhat rotund Tuggle push the elongated Anderson four times around the new temple of justice.

Soldiers' Night.

Sunday night will be "Soldiers' night" at the First Congregational church, colored. The Second Training detachment at the Atlanta university, consisting of 136 men, and the Boy Hikers of Atlanta, will be the guests of the evening. The colored orchestra at Camp Gordon, of fifteen pieces, will furnish music. Colored veterans from the French battlefield will be on the platform. Addresses will be made by Lieutenant Jean Murphy, of the Canadian artillery, and Captain John Milson State, veteran of the South African war. Professor Harrold will lead the entire audience in community singing. Dr. H. H. Proctor will fill his pulpit on Sunday morning, speaking on "The Sin of the World."

Decatur Boy Visits Home.

Lieutenant Claud S. Hamilton, of Decatur, stopped over for a short visit with his family at Decatur this week.

Lieutenant Hamilton is en route from Camp Jackson, S. C., to Fort Sill, Okla., where he goes to enter the school of fire of field artillery for six weeks' training with the big guns.

Volunteer Registrars Thanked.

The seven local registration boards in the city and Fulton county local board wish to thank the registrars who so patriotically gave Thursday to the work of registering the man power of Atlanta. The registrars also wish to thank the women who assisted on record work.

HUMPHRIES DECLARED JUDGESHIP NOMINEE

Plea of Judge Ben H. Hill for Recount Denied by Committee.

The plea of Judge Ben H. Hill for a recount of the votes in his contest with his successful opponent, John D. Humphries, for judge of the criminal division of the Fulton county superior court, was denied yesterday by the Fulton county democratic executive committee. The closeness of the race, in which Humphries received only 21 majority over the incumbent, formed the basis for the prayer for a recount, but the plea was refused by a vote of 19 to 5.

Shortly before the vote on the question of a recount was taken by the committee an amendment of the original petition, in which an error was charged in the count, was made by Attorney Harvey Hill, making the charge of error specific and naming three wards in the city, viz, the second, the fifth and the eighth. Attorney Hill stated that an aggregate error of 112 votes would develop in these three wards by a recount.

The amendment was made in a verbal way by Albert Howell, who urged that the recount be made, and he also moved that attorneys for the candidates concerned be given a quarter of an hour on each side for argument of the question. This motion was voted down.

"There has never been an instance before in the history of the county," said Mr. Howell, "where a candidate has been denied a recount of the vote by the executive committee when an error was charged. I know both Judge Hill and Judge Humphries, and I am sure that neither of them would want to serve on the bench if there was the slightest doubt as to his being entitled to the place."

Mr. Howell drew the attention of the committee to the Turner-Hightower contest for county commissioner, in which he said a recount had been ordered upon a charge of error, and that Mr. Hightower had been inducted into office as a result of the recount. B. Lee Smith, Claude C. Maso nand J. W. Moddox stoutly opposed the granting of a recount.

After the motions had been disposed of, John D. Humphries was declared the nomineee of the democratic party for the judgeship.

HUMPHRIES IS HONORED BY HAPEVILLE PEOPLE

More than two thousand people from all over the county around Hapeville, the home town of John D. Humphries, gathered in the streets last night and, with torchlights flaring and the Boy Scout band and drum corps playing, they all marched to the home of the judge and gave him a rousing demonstration of the way the people down there feel about his victory in the race for Fulton superior court judge in the recent primary. H. A. Allen spoke in behalf of the crowd, and Judge Humphries responded very happily, and seemed deeply touched at the loyalty of his thousands of friends in Hapeville. This was the biggest crowd ever gathered in Hapeville.

OUR PARENTS BEFORE US

Cobden, Ill.—Mrs. Alice Metz, of this place, thinks that when you have found a good thing, it is your duty to let others know about it. She writes: "We have used Black-Draught in our family for years, as our parents before us used it, as a general medicine for liver and stomach troubles.

It is also fine for the children. They get away sometimes, just like children will, and eat just everything. Many times I have prevented serious troubles by taking my children in hand and dosing them thoroughly with Black-Draught.

My husband takes Black-Draught for constipation. It worked wonders in his case. In fact, we are all true believers in Black-Draught and are never out of it. We would not resort to any other remedy, under any circumstances."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a medicine that every person should keep in the house, and use at the least sign of indigestion, constipation, liver and stomach troubles.

It is purely vegetable, and acts actively on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helping to increase the normal discharge of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Try Black-Draught.

BRIDGE DISASTER CAUSES BIG SUIT AGAINST CHEROKEE

Mrs. Anna Marqusee, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., has filed suit through attorneys Anderson & Slate against Cherokee county for $30,000 damages for the death of her son, T. E. Marqusee, a sergeant in the United States army.

At the time of his death Marqusee, who was only 20 years old, was stationed at Camp Gordon. He was one of the party which was out hunting deserters and he was killed when the truck in which he was riding crashed through the bridge over the Etowah river, near Calhoun, Ga.

Mrs. Marqusee alleges in her suit that the accident was due to the bad condition of the bridge, which was formerly a toll bridge and upon which it is claimed Olin Fincher, road commissioner of Cherokee county, had done no repairing during his administration until after the accident.

THE LAST SALIENT GONE!

At the beginning of the summer there were three great salients along the western front between the English channel and the Swiss border.

The first was in Picardy, reaching dangerously close to Amiens; the second, in the Marne sector, having its apex at Chateau-Thierry, pointing direct to Paris and within only forty-seven miles of the French capital; the apex of the third was at St. Mihiel, and pointed straight at the heart of France. The third salient had been held continuously for over four years by the Germans, who established it in their first great dash into France in 1914, and who have held it ever since.

One by one these three salients have been wiped out. The Americans and the French, in the remarkable drive beginning on July 18, on either side of Chateau-Thierry, drove the Germans out of that salient and straightened the line back to, and even beyond, the Aisne.

Then came the famous drive of the British and the French, who attacked the Montdidier salient in Picardy—the British to the north, the French to the south. They fought with such determination that the Huns have not only been driven back to the old Hindenburg line, but the allies now are even behind a large part of the line, and the Hun retreat still continues!

Now comes—to us—the most interesting and anxious drive of all—the great drive in which more Americans under arms are advancing than upon any previous occasion since the birth of the republic!

With dramatic effect, and after painstaking preparation in the sector between Verdun and the Swiss border, with probably more than 1,200,000 American soldiers lined up and ready to advance upon a moment's notice at any time within the last two months, the great drive began last Thursday morning and the apex of the third salient was hit squarely in front, at St. Mihiel, and on both sides!

As we write this it appears that the movement has been so successful that this great salient has been eliminated, leaving the allied front practically without a kink all the way from the Swiss border to the channel.

Now the question is just how far our troops are going toward, or across the German border before rough winter weather calls a halt?

The first object of Marshal Foch was, of course, to wipe out the salients so as to protect the allied armies from the danger of a flanking movement at any point when he gets ready to launch a great co-ordinated drive, all along the whole line, toward the German border.

Now that this job has been completed and the line straightened, it is simply a question of time as to when we shall start and how far we are going before winter.

"When you get the enemy on the run, keep him going," is a cardinal principle of war with the great allied leader, Marshal Foch.

The probability is, therefore, that Foch will keep straight ahead as long as the weather permits, and that when the bad weather sets in the allies will proceed to the reinforcement of the whole line for the inevitable spring drive.

Which drive, if the war is not ended before then, will, in all probability, prove to be the culminating blow.

By March we should have at least a million more American soldiers in France than we have there now.

If the million and a half already there have brought about such a wonderful revolution in the military aspect of the western front, what is inevitably to be the result when another million men are placed in the line with those already there!

The great resources of this country have as yet scarcely been touched!

With over 13,000,000 Americans between 18 and 46 years of age, additional to those previously registered, eagerly responding to the last draft; with our unlimited resources in men, foodstuffs, munitions, money—with everything in the world, in fact, that is needed to wage war effectively—unquestionably the beginning of the end is here!

The end may come in a few months, just as suddenly as the beginning came.

It inevitably must come before the close of 1919!

In the meantime, as the safest and most certain means of hastening the end, the country and the people should proceed with preparations for five years more of warfare; for the more vigorous our preparations, the more intense our determination, and the more elaborate the plans we make for the prosecution of a prolonged war, the sooner will the end be reached.

WHERE THE KAISER ERRED.

"Now is your chance to settle your negro problem," suggested the kaiser, half facetiously, to Dr. Davis, soon after the United States entered the war.

"If America insists upon coming into the war," he went on, "why doesn't she send her negroes across and let us shoot them down?"

While not being influenced by Wilhelm's suggestion, we have sent our negroes "across"—some thousands of them, at any rate—but to date mighty few of them have been shot down by William and his Huns.

Our negroes needed no urging to go, what is more; they seemed to dread not in the least the boasted fate that was in store for them. Since they have been over there they have not shrunk from their duty, and while their duty has taken them into some of the very places where the Huns were the thickest, surprisingly few of them have been shot down.

Probably the most plausible explanation of this lies in the fact that a Hun cannot shoot well while running! Especially while running from the target!

In other words, in every engagement the negro troops have had with the kaiser's outlaws the latter have been put to rout! Our negro troops have to date not given one foot of ground.

Just the other day negro troops drove the Germans helter-skelter out of a French village, and rescued several French civilians who were being held prisoner there. And the rescued Frenchmen declared that the Germans were thoroughly surprised to find themselves confronted by colored Americans—of whom they stand in dread by reason of an idea they have that "the American negroes cut off the ears of their prisoners!"

Soon after they got into the fighting a group of cornered Huns treacherously yelled "kamerad!" and when taken prisoners opened fire upon the unsuspecting captors; and now, it is said, the negroes fight all the more fiercely in their determination to avenge that piece of cowardly German deceit! And who will blame them?

Anyhow, as upon numerous other occasions, when the Hun kaiser belittled our negro troops to Dr. Davis, and laughingly boasted about how his barbarous minions would "shoot them down," it is plainly to be seen now that he reckoned without his host!

THE ESSENTIAL POET.

At last there is government classification of the work of the poets of the country, according to a dispatch from Boston, to which The Indianapolis News gives editorial prominence:

> "Persons writing poetry, fiction and advertisements are engaged in essential industries and are not affected by the 'work-or-fight' rules, according to information received from the provost marshal-general's office to a local draft board today. Edward Sampson, chairman of the board, found several registrants under these classifications on his lists and asked Washington for a ruling."

This should ease the minds of many writers of rhymes, not born in Indiana—"spring poets" and "fall poets" who make a living by their lines: Notwithstanding the slight regard in which their work is held by the newspaper paragraphers, the government says it is really and truly, "essential work."

Passing over the fact that it seems hard labor for some, when they become as—

> "An ox of verse, that plows for every line," the intention of it is as good as gold; Great and small, the poets all mean well!

The "town poet" has his peculiar place in the affections of the townfolk, and he sometimes "branches out" and does big things that bring him into national prominence; for when he knows that he has a message, he doesn't let himself be laughed off the stage.

As to the "work or fight" question, we know how the poets—master and minor alike—have been among the first in the fighting, up to the last sacrifice for some of them.

They have the faith of their singing and are quick to make the deed speak for the dream.

That has always been the way since the world had poets to speak what is in the world's heart.

The point, however, is that, whether in the war or the home workaday world, the poet is, of right and necessity, an "essential worker," and when he sings straight to the hearts of the people, he becomes a force for the winning of the war.

Why They Didn't.

Tennyson J. Daft doesn't give our great-gran'dads much credit for being good occasionally. In a Kansas City Star poem he says:

"How gay our forbears might have been
Had they discovered gasoline,
And gone careering o'er the swards
In what in those days passed for Fords.
But, no; those times were grim, austere;
Those luckless wights of yesteryear
Were willing to be blithe and free,
But lacked the opportuni-tee."

"I'm willing for the home-folks to eat my part of the watermelons, beans and potatoes, if they'll just keep me posted as to how the crop's going, and how many of the home boys are in the training camps, and who, from home, is coming over next to help us in the fighting."

The "Old Boys" Are Ready.

The "old boys" here, in Georgia, are mighty anxious to go over the top, and to some of them at home The Cordele Dispatch says:

"They are going to take the youngsters first. If you have been hopeful of getting away right soon and you are up in the higher years, you must wait a while as yet. Your time will come!"

The Daily Boil of the Political Pot

By JAMES A. HOLLOMON
Staff Representative of The Atlanta Constitution.

The next thing in order is the state democratic convention.

It will be held the last week in September, and very probably in Macon.

This will be the first Georgia convention under the Neill primary law.

The rules and regulations of the state committee provide that it shall be called by the subcommittee. This subcommittee is composed of Albert Howell, Jr., of Atlanta; Henry A. Tarver, of Albany; Julian B. McCurry, of Hartwell; H. H. Revill, of Greenville, and B. H. Hardy, of Barnesville. The chairman, Senator-elect J. J. Flynt, of Griffin, and the secretary, Hiram L. Gardner, of Eatonton, Ga., are members ex-officio. This subcommittee will meet early in the week, possibly Monday, to issue the call for the convention.

The state democratic convention will be different this year from formerly. Instead of a political mass meeting, of conflicting interests, it will be more of a loyalty love-feast. All of the delegates—and there will be 380 of them, and as many alternates—will be appointed by Governor Dorsey, the rules providing that they shall be named by the successful candidate in the primary for state executive. In the event he does not personally name all of the delegates, the various county committees will name them from among the governor's political friends. The governor is now engaged in making these appointments.

With around 700 delegates and alternates, and usually they all attend, and the successful candidates, including United States Senator-elect Harris, Governor Dorsey, Secretary of State-elect McLendon, and so on, the convention will be a pretty formidable and a pretty important affair. Besides, it will have some important functions, and the usual oratory. It not only tabulates and certifies the primary nominations for senator, statehouse officers, supreme and appeals court judges, etc., but it frames a state democratic platform—that is important at all times, and particularly so this year—and it elects a new committee, and so on.

As yet no contests have been reported in any county. The successful nominees, with one or two exceptions, went in with veritable landslides; and contests are not usual unless the race between opposing candidates for a specific office is dangerously close in the returns.

Primary Echoes Are Still Heard.

The echoes from Wednesday's primary are still heard. The successful candidates, particularly Mr. Harris, have been deluged with letters and telegrams of congratulations; most of them breathing sentiments of loyalty to the government—for the war spirit is in nearly everybody and everything. People simply can't get away from it, and, although there is a sigh in every thought, they don't want to get away from it. The silver lining to the cloud is the good news from the front; and the good news from home in appreciating that the spirit of loyalty so overwhelmingly envelops our people. The results of the primary election on Wednesday demonstrated that, and have made everybody feel better, by dispelling any suspicions to the contrary that may have found lodgment in our minds.

* * * *

One of the features in the various telegrams of congratulations, etc., that have been flying over and through Georgia since Wednesday evening, is the good-natured humor, and in instances sparkling witticisms, that found expression in some of them.

Here is one, for instance, that W. H. Burwell, of Sparta, received—

"Rome, Ga., September 11, 9:30 P. M.—Pompadour Bill, Sparta, Ga.: The country is safe. Shake across the wires. (Signed) Speckled-face John."

Representative Bale, of Floyd, one of the Harris campaign committee, had been designated "Speckled-face John" early in the campaign by Congressman Schley Howard; and "Pompadour Bill" was the unique designation of another of the loyal Harris supporters by Mr. Howard.

Among the Harris speakers was Colonel John Bennett, of Waycross, and Howard designated him "Blue John Bennett." One of the telegrams from Bennett to Bale was as follows:

"Waycross, Ga., September 12.—Speckled-face John, Rome, Ga.: There are no freckles on Georgia and nothing blue in the returns. Glory hallelujah. (Signed) Blue John."

As an illustration of the keen interest taken in the Georgia primary in the adjoining states of the south, all of which were watching Georgia with prophetic eyes, was the following from a former Atlanta lawyer who is now at Muscle Shoals—

"Muscle Shoals, Ala., September 12.—Hon. John Bale, Kimball House, Atlanta, Ga.: Harris carried every county in Alabama, and is now running wild in the swamps of Mississippi. The idols are broken in the Temple of Bale.—Bob Church."

Stephens and Harwell Make Statements.

The Constitution is in receipt of statements from Alex W. Stephens, who has been nominated for a place on the court of appeals, and also from Judge Frank Harwell, the incumbent, whom Stephens defeated.

The card from Mr. Stephens follows:

"I wish to thank the people of Georgia for the splendid vote of confidence and vindication which they have given me. Especially do I thank my friends throughout the state for their loyalty and efforts in my behalf. I realize full well the high honor and responsibility conferred upon me. I shall go upon the bench with no other purpose than to ascertain and enforce the laws of the land and do equal justice to all. To this end I ask the earnest and helpful co-operation of the bar, without which I can not satisfactorily discharge the duties incumbent upon me."

The card of Judge Harwell follows:

"I wish through the columns of The Constitution to thank my friends throughout the state for their loyal support in my race for judge of the court of appeals. I greatly appreciate the many manifestations of friendship accorded me.

"I also appreciate the many letters received during the campaign expressing approval of and commending my work since I have been a member of the court of appeals.

"FRANK HARWELL."

Cold Comfort for The Senior Senator.

It is not probable that the senior United States senator from Georgia, who has joined with Senator Hardwick in some of his most notable attacks on the administration's war policies, received any comfort out of Wednesday's primary.

Whether or not Senator Smith was responsible, directly or indirectly, for getting the fifth district congressman into the senatorial race, the fact remains that Mr. Howard's alignments in that race were noticeably close to the political interests of the senior senator; so much so, indeed, that everybody had reason to believe that he was promoted by what is known as the "Hoke Smith faction."

Within a few days of the close of the campaign, after this opinion had become so thoroughly established in Georgia that it was accepted everywhere without discount, Senator Smith saw fit to repudiate Mr. Howard by a signed advertisement—only another instance of voting one way in the committee room and another way on the floor—an old trick, however, and one thoroughly understood, and under the circumstances even anticipated by the students of the wily senator's record.

The prophetic shadows of defeat at the time, perhaps, were falling so rapidly across the path of Mr. Howard's candidacy that the senator didn't deem it wise to trust his political future by stumbling along in the darkness of the Howard trail.

The significant fact, however, is that Senator Smith did not counsel the people of Georgia, in that advertisement of repudiation, to stand flat-footedly by the administration of Mr. Wilson, or to support Mr. Wilson's expressed choice for United States senator. On the contrary, while he did not say as much, it is an obtuse brain that did not read directly between the lines of that advertisement, that the senior senator had shifted the weight of his influence to his colleague, Hardwick.

No one was surprised at that, either, for "shifting" is generally understood to be one of the senior senator's most seasoned accomplishments.

* * * *

Did Smith Desire Hardwick Returned?

In addition to that—

I am reliably informed, too, that Senator Smith told a Georgian, who was in Washington late in August, in attendance there upon a farmers' national convention, that his reports from Georgia indicated to him that the people of the state would in the primary indorse his (Smith's) course in the senate, and would indicate conclusively to his mind that they would be satisfied to return him to his seat in 1920.

That Georgian inferred from the remark that Hoke Smith had accepted Hardwick, upon his repudiation of Howard—

As his course in the senate in fighting some of the administration war measures, for instance the Overman co-ordination bill—one of the most important, and in which the fight was led by Smith of Georgia and Reed of Missouri—had been parallel to that of his junior colleague, and directly in violation of Mr. Wilson's "acid test of loyalty," or the "100 per cent American" formula that is being demanded of members of congress who are offering for re-election, the only thing that Senator Smith could have meant by such a remark was that he was satisfied the people were going to renominate Hardwick.

The fact, therefore, that the people of Georgia in the primary repudiated Hardwickism by a sweeping vote, necessarily carried cold comfort, if not indeed apprehension to the senator whose war record in the senate has already been made, and who must enter a campaign for re-election in less than two years.

* * * *

But that is not all—

Congressman Randall Walker, of the eleventh, is one of them. While his congressional record has been absolutely loyal, and he has made a good member, the fact that he was or had been an open and pronounced and militant Smith lieutenant in his section of the state operated against him to a potential degree, and he was the only member of the delegation except Howard who was not returned to the sixty-sixth congress.

The landslide for Colonel Guyt McLendon for secretary of state was an especially marked repudiation of Senator Hoke Smith. It is not necessary to go into the whole story—supplementary to the fact that Judge Strange is an old Smith lieutenant in the first district—but the voters showed their familiarity with it at the polls Wednesday.

Uneasy lies the head that wears the toga—

Just as certain as taxes and death the senior senator from Georgia sees the handwriting that was placed on the wall by Wednesday's primary.

The Work Ahead For Tax Commission.

Some days ago I received the following communication from Senator DeJarnette, one of the newly created state tax commissioners, which explains itself. Its belated publication is due to the rush of election matters—

"Mr. James A. Hollomon, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: I am writing to thank you, in behalf of the state, for the splendid 'send-off' of the special tax commission appearing in Sunday's Constitution. Evidently you understand and appreciate the situation. There are great possibilities for good to the state in the movement, if the commission will act upon conservatively progressive lines, treating it as a business matter pure and simple and avoiding even the appearance of political manipulation. As the average citizens is not yet interested, it must, of course, be largely an educational propaganda, if it is to accomplish anything worth while. It is, therefore, very important that the first impressions are correct ones. It would be, I think, disastrous for the public to get the idea that it is working in the interest of or against any class of people or any particular business interest. It will also be void of good results unless the state press will get the correct idea of our purpose and aid us by conveying it to the public. This you are doing admirably, and I wanted you to know that I, at least, understand and appreciate the value of your work along this line, as also the policy of your paper, and I presume this is true of every member of the commission. With kind personal regards, I am, yours truly, H. R. DeJARNETTE.

"Eatonton, Ga., September 5, 1918."

Colonel Ed T. Brown, one of Atlanta's prominent attorneys whose professional interests require a good deal of his time in Washington, returned to Atlanta to vote in the state primary, but left again yesterday for the national capital.

In the Harwell-Stephens race for judge of the court of appeals, complete returns have been received from 147 counties, of the 152 in Georgia, and they give Stephens 80 counties, with total electoral votes of 202; and give Harwell 67 counties, with 166 electoral votes. The five missing counties have a total of only 10 units. The election of Stephens is assured.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST SPANISH GRIPPE

Disease Which Has Been Epidemic in Europe Is Spreading in United States. Surgeon General Blue's Bulletin to Doctors.

Washington, September 13.—Surgeon General Blue, of the public health service, has made a telegraphic survey to determine the extent of Spanish influenza in the United States. General Blue has found there was a sharp outbreak at Fort Morgan, near Mobile, Ala., in August, and about the same time a tramp steamer arrived at Newport News with almost the entire crew prostrated. Philadelphia reported a few cases some four weeks ago, and a few have been reported from New York. The Boston outbreak was reported September 11, since when the epidemic has appeared at New London, while New Orleans has not wholly escaped.

"The disease is characterized by sudden onset," said Dr. Blue today in a statement to the Associated Press. "People are stricken on the streets, while at work in factories, ship yards, offices or elsewhere. First there is a chill, then fever with temperature from 101 to 103, headache, backache, reddening and running of the eyes, pains and aches all over the body and general prostration. Persons so attacked should go to their homes at once, get in bed without delay and immediately call a physician.

Treatment Simple.

"Treatment under the direction of the physician is simple but important, consisting principally of rest in bed, fresh air, abundant food, with Dover's powder for the relief of pain. Every case with fever should be regarded as serious, and kept in bed at least until temperature becomes normal. Convalescence requires careful management to avoid serious complications, such as bronchial pneumonia, which 'not infrequently may have fatal termination.' During the present outbreak in foreign countries the salts of quinine and aspirin have been more generally used during the acute attack, the aspirin apparently with much success in the relief of symptoms.

LLOYD-GEORGE IS ILL FOLLOWING SPEECH

Condition of British Premier, However, Is Regarded as Improved.

Manchester, England, September 13.—Premier Lloyd George, who became ill last night after his reception during the day, when he was presented with the freedom of the city, and delivered a notable address in response, was reported this moring to be progressing satisfactorily. All the engagements that had been made for him today in his tour of Lancashire, however, have been cancelled.

Last night's announcement stated that the premier was suffering from a chill and had a high temperature.

Of particular interest to the American public was the reference made by the premier in yesterday's speech to the advent of the American forces in France. The full text of the passage in which he made this reference, reads:

"The additional fact which depressed the Germans is the advent of the Americans. They have been pouring in steadily. There is no finer feat in the history of British industry than the way in which our shipping has been taken away from all sorts of urgent business in odrer to concentrate on transporting the troops across, and now we are carrying about 60 per cent of the American troops across the Atlantic:

"There is another German miscalculation for you. They were under the impression that no more than two divisions could be brought across. There were many people who thought that, but a special effort was made, and you never know what you can do until you really try in any business. When British shipping was mobilized without any loss of time for the purpose of carrying American troops, it was a marvelous feat, of wihch we have real reason to be proud as a nation.

"They are there now, hundreds of thousands of them, and the Germans know it. The advance guard of an army of at least ten millions of the finest material in the world is fighting. The Germans have no America, and as a result of their despair they are actually turning to Austria."

Mortgage Claims In Condemned Car Protected by Law

Important Decision Rendered by Supreme Court in Case Where a Machine, Used to Carry Liquor, Was Seized and Sold.

Declaring that until the legislature makes some provision whereby the rights of any one who claims to have a valid mortgage upon the automobile or vehicle about to be confiscated or condemned because it is used to convey liquor may be determined in the statutory proceedings, the doors of a court of equity should not be closed against the holder of the valid lien, the supreme court of Georgia Friday handed down a decision reversing the decision of the superior court judge of Ware county in the case of Shrowder vs. Sweat. The case was appealed on a writ of error.

T. J. Shrowder sold an automobile on credit to a man named Trowell, who gave notes for the purchase price of the car, securing the same by a mortgage on the car. Trowell, the purchaser, while engaged, according to the petition, in the "illegal enterprise of conveying liquor" in the automobile he had bought from Shrowder, was taken into custody by Sheriff H. J. Sweat, who immediately instigated condemnation proceedings against the seized car under the new prohibition act passed by the general assembly at the extra session held March, 1917.

Shrowder then petitioned the superior court of Ware county to enjoin the sheriff from selling the car as Trowell was insolvent and by selling the car his mortgage on the car would become null and voil. The judge refused to allow the injunction as prayed for and Shrowder appealed the case to the supreme court.

In rendering the decision, Justice Beck set out that a court of equity, upon an equitable petition for injunction brought by the person who sold the car, who had not participated in any way in the criminal enterprise, should have enjoined the condemnation proceedings. Until after the final hearing for application of the funds from sale of the vehicle on the mortgage the condemnation proceeding should have been enjoined, and the status quo preserved until the final hearing, when a decree upon the facts as there shown, could have been rendered.

Shrowder could not intervene in the city court and his only redress for the enforcement of a clear equitable right was by an injunction.

The decision held that it was not the intention of the legislature, in passing the condemnation clause of the prohibition act, to destroy liens held by innocent third parties.

The question has never been decided before in the state of Georgia, but the principle has been decided elsewhere.

ROBERT OTIS ISSUES ORDER ON BUILDINGS

Work on Structures Now Under Way Will Continue for the Present.

All new buildings now in process of construction will proceed until further notice, according to the announcement Friday of Robert R. Otis, business manager of region No. 12 of the resources and conversion section of the war industries board, following the drastic government order that went into effect last Monday concerning the construction of new buildings.

Edward H. Inman, regional advisor, has received a wire from Washington stating that officials of the priorities commission has just issued a circular allowing all buildings now in process of construction to continue for the present. In connection with the order issued last Saturday and with reference to the building supply manufacturers, who are carrying the law further than it is intended concerning the repairs and alteration of buildings, Mr. Otis declared Friday:

"The instructions contained in the government circular on this new order should not be construed as to prevent the sale of small quantities of building materials for repairs of structures involving in the aggregate cost not exceeding $2,500. However, the order concerning new buildings that have not been started is still in effect, requiring all persons to secure a permit before the building is started."

GERMAN CASUALTIES REPORTED VERY HEAVY

Prisoners Are Taken From Seven Divisions—Enemy Was Unprepared.

With the American Army in France, September 13.—(By the Associated Press.)—The prisoners taken by the Americans have come from seven German divisions, among them men from the landwehr and landstrum. The Austro-Hungarians made prisoner came from the 192d, 10th, 255th and 307th regiments.

The prisoners asserted that the casualties resulting from the American fire were very heavy. Among the captives were numerous officers, who freely criticised the high command for what they termed bad judgment.

All the evidence at hand tends to confirm the belief that the Germans were altogether unprepared to resist such a force as General Pershing sent against them. One division on a certain sector sent out a call for reinforcements. The only response to this appeal was a reply to hold the sector at all cost.

Trap Is Closed.

Vigneulles, a little town that sits in the northern end of the valley that was the northern entrance to the St. Mihiel salient, was entered by the Americans last night. The first to get there was only a small patrol. This was supported by a large force that moved down the ridge along the northern edge of the forest, and in a few hours the trap was effectually closed and a new line established.

Exceptional assistance has been given by the aviation forces, both American and French. Planes of pursuit groups attacked successfully convoys and troops on the roads, and even operated effectively against troops information. Flying low, they used their machine gus with deadly effect on the lines of infantry, in some instances causing them to break. One aviator saw two men attempting to extricate some artillery horses, who swooped down and attacked them with his gun, killing one and driving the other to seek refuge in a dugout. The flier circled about the dugout, preventing the man's escape until the infantry came up and captured him.

Tanks Not Needed.

Tanks were used but not to any great extent, the chief reason being that it was unnecessary to call upon them. The Germans, in most cases, retreated without waiting for the wiping-out machines to force them.

The rains that began shortly after the battle commenced have continued at intervals since. The narrow dirt roads that lead from the main highway are now deep in mud, and it is through these and over fields in which wagons sink low that the guns move, in a majority of cases drawn by tractors. It was through such fields that the infantry slipped and waded in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

Washington, September 13.—First subscriptions to the fourth Liberty Loan received from the navy came today from the armed guard of the American steamer J. L. Luckenbach. Through Rear Admiral Cowie, who has been appointed navy Liberty Loan officer, the ten men asked for $1,500 of the bonds, sale of which begins September 28.

PORTUGAL WILL SEND LABORERS TO PERSHING

Lisbon, September 13.—The Portuguese government has promptly answered General Pershing's cable and thousands of workmen are being recruited in Portugal for the American force in France. General Pershing, through the American minister at Lisbon, requested permission of the Portuguese government to recruit in Portugal skilled and unskilled workmen in order to release American soldiers doing that work in France. The Portuguese government promptly consented and as a result thousands of laborers are being recruited.

Portugal entered the war March 9, 1916, and since then has trained and equipped an army of more than 125,000 men for service in France and Africa.

ALABAMA MAN KILLS 16 HUNS IN ONE FIGHT

Clayton, Ala., September 13.—A letter just received from Major John W. Carroll, of the 167th infantry (Rainbow division), says that Fred T. Bell, a Clayton man in his regiment, member of Company B, killed sixteen Germans in one fight. The letter was addressed to Alto Jackson, of Clio, Ala. "I lost in killed and wounded about two-thirds of my outfit. Small percentage of that number was killed, but I want to tell you we just stacked the Boches up in piles. One boy you are acquainted with—my hat off to him—is Fred Bell, of Clayton, Ala. His platoon leader, Lieutenant Bob Espy, of Abbeville, Ala., says that Fred killed sixteen Germans in one fight, and when I got wounded he was still after them and had not received a scratch."

COURT DISMISSES COMPLAINT AGAINST ATLANTA COMPANY

Washington, September 13.—The federal trade commission today announced dismissal of the complaint against the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation of Atlanta, Ga., which was charged with violation of the Clayton anti-trust law. The commission said further proceedings in the case were not believed to be in the public interest.

According to advice received by W. B. Baker, president and general manager of the company, the commission held that there was not sufficient evidence to continue the case which has been pending there for nearly three years. The case, it is said, grew out of jealousy on the part of some competitors of the Atlantic Ice and Coal company, which resulted in the filing of charges of violation of the Clayton anti-trust law.

How Much Longer Can Germany Fight?

We must beware of being too happy over the trouncing Germany is getting on the Western Front. Victory is coming, but the earlier we expect it the later it will arrive.

While "we are on the last lap and close to the winning post," to quote a French leader, at the same time we are reminded that it is in the last part of the race that a runner must make his supreme effort. "Should the German military command decide to have the war carried into Germany and seek to delude the people into a frantic last resistance at or beyond the Rhine, upon the plea that they are actually fighting for the Fatherland and to drive the invaders from the sacred soil," remarks the Boston American, "the Huns might prosecute the war still for a long time to come."

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week—September 14th—carefully weighs the result of the Allies' victorious push during the past several weeks and balances against their successes a computation of the further fighting strength of the German armies, drawn from various sources. This article throws much light upon the present relative strength of both forces.

"The Digest" Serves At Home and At the Front

A recent dispatch from American headquarters in France described our boys in the trenches as eager for news of the war, so much so that a dozen or more crowded together to read a single paper narrating the progress of the battles. We at home are no less anxious to learn how the fight is going as a whole and how our soldiers are distinguishing themselves and incidentally lending a poignant interest to the reports from the front. To know the whole truth about the great struggle in France and Flanders there is nothing so helpful as to read the weekly accounts in THE LITERARY DIGEST, carefully gleaned from the most authoritative sources. You can first satisfy yourself of the actual facts in this way and then mail the magazine to one of these news-hungry American boys overseas.

ALL-STAR BOXING CARNIVAL.
Time—Tonight, 8 o'clock.

Announcer—Duke Karnes.

The greatest boxing card ever arranged has been dug up by Duke Karnes, who is promoting the big fistic carnival at the Auditorium tonight for the benefit of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. Eight bouts have been arranged, and several other features, including a battle royal, will complete what is unquestionably the most stupendous undertaking of its kind ever known in the south.

There are probably more fighters in Atlanta today than have ever been here at one time in the history of pugdom. Every train for the past few days has been bringing in the boxers and their managers until the local sport colony is fairly teeming with excitement over tonight's big show.

From Camp Hancock.

Captain Ashmore, athletic officer of Camp Hancock, arrived in Atlanta yesterday with Russell, Waltz, Virgits and Murphy, all of whom are in the best of condition, and are expected to give their respective opponents some real opposition when they meet tonight. All of these fighters have been training hard, as has also Jim Welby, the crack middeweight, who will cross swords with Mike Gibbons, the world's champion of his class. Welby is also stationed at Camp Hancock, which claims the distinction of having the largest number of good boxers of any cantonments in the south.

Kid Burman, the crack Chicago featherweight, who will meet Phil Virgits, has been in Atlanta for some time, and has been in daily training, and his friends say he is in top-notch shape, and will give Virgits the hardest battle of his career. Young Lewis has also been training hard for his match with Sammy Waltz, and these two will put up a slam-bang exhibition, second to none. Mike Gibbons, Jack Herrick, George Cohan, Young McCarty and Sarg Robinson, who are all stationed at Camp Gordon, are in constant training, and Atlanta fight fans are sure of seeing some of the cleverest and best fighting ever staged in this city.

Under Army Boxing Rules.

All of the bouts will be run under United States government boxing rules, as issued by Dr. Raycroft, head of the athletic division of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, and each bout will be judged by two judges and a referee. In case the judges disagree on any decision, the referee shall cast the deciding vote.

Lieutenant D'Eliscu, athletic officer of the depot brigade, will be the third man in the ring, while Lieutenant Kingman, athletic officer of the Fifth regiment, and John Robinson, former manager of Battling Nelson, who is now at the officers' training school at Gordon, will be the two judges.

Promoter Karnes has secured the assistance of three of the most capable ring judges to be had and their presence in this capacity assures the fans of fair and square decisions in all of the bouts.

A battle royal will be staged, as well as several other features that will lend much to the evening's entertainment.

Reserved seats will remain on sale at Chess' Place, Five Points, up to the time of opening the box office at 7 p. m., and admission will be at the usual prices, of $1, $2 and $3.

Syracuse Meet Closes.

Syracuse, N. Y., September 13.—The Grand Circuit meeting, in connection with the New York State fair, closed here with three races this afternoon. The races were late in starting, and the time was slow because of a rain-soaked and heavy track. The last of two amateur events was raced in a rainstorm.

Murphy Dickerson and Lyman were the day's winners.

Murphy drove Billy Jackson to a straight heat victory in the 2:10 class pace, after letting Walker lead to the three-quarters pole in each heat with Harper. Hubbard was the third starter with Bellinardine.

The opening event on that program went the full five heats. Zoller drove Jenne Dean to the wire first in the two first heats, but Lyman, in a whipping finish, sent Mazda in by a nose in the third, and came back again in the fourth. Mazda led all the way in the fifth for heat winners, and won first money.

Baron Frisco won in straight heats in the 2:15 trot, and Monte Velo was second in the last two after trailing the field in the first.

W. J. McDonald, of Boston, won the first of two amateur races with Ecce Volo, and A. J. Furbush, also of Boston, won the second with Byron.

Most of the horses were shipped to Columbus tonight, but Murphy kept Miss Harris M. here, and will drive her in an exhibition mile against time tomorrow if the track dries out.

Charged With Aiding Deserters

Robert Beck and Daniel Heflin, the latter a fourteen-year-old boy, and both of Newnan, Ga., were ordered held for the federal grand jury by Judge W. C. Carter Friday morning, charged with assisting several deserters from the army in escaping from the Coweta county jail recently. The boy had been furnished hack-saws by Beck, it was brought out at the trial, and had then managed to smuggle them into the jail to the prisoners. The alleged deserters after sawing their way to liberty were afterwards apprehended by the military police and now await court-martial at Camp Gordon.

Clemency Refused Two.

The prison commission Friday declined to grant the application for commutation of George Wilkinson, but recommended the commutation for Harry Wilkinson. The Wilkinsons are brothers, negroes, who were convicted of murder in Burke county, and were sentenced to hang on Setpember 20. Application for commutation was refused C. F. Polk, of Baldwin, who is sentenced to be hanged at Milledgeville September 20.

BAN ON FOOTBALL NOT TOO STRINGENT

Only Restriction Is Where It Might Conflict With the Military Training at the Schools.

Washington, September 13.—Football for this fall at colleges and universities with army student training corps units will not be interrupted by the war department, except where they actually would interfere with military training.

Protests which reached members of congress yesterday against the action of an officer of the training corps service in advising that football schedules be abandoned, drew an official statement from the war department today that no such step had been authorized. On the contrary, it was stated, that the educational institutions would be advised formally to continue their athletic schedules without permitting them to curtail the military course.

Coaches Pleased.

Chicago, September 13.—Satisfaction was expressed by football coaches throughout the western conference tonight with the war department's stand in favor of the continuation of intercollegiate athletics, and its statement today that it will encourage the playing of the 1918 football schedules instead of demanding their abandonment.

A. A. Stagg, of the University of Chicago, announced he would start the practice season Monday, and that other coaches in the "Big Ten" were planning on commencing the practice season next week.

"I think I voice the sentiments of every coach in the country when I say we will teach football this fall for Uncle Sam without having the big desire to win foremost in our minds," said Coach Stagg. "Our first thoughts will be to get the men in physical condition, teach them to think and act quickly and show them the best way of charging and blocking.

"Team play in football corresponds to the unity of attack in the army. I think playing the game will make our men better officers. After a football player mixes in a few scrimmages, fear leaves him and he learns how to fight not only against an individual but against masses."

The University of Chicago schedule will be carried out as originally planned.

Lineman Badly Burnt.

W. C. Bradshaw, 18 years old, employed by the power company as a lineman's helper, early Friday morning was badly burned on a telegraph pole near the corner of Carroll and Tennile streets, when his body came in contact with a live wire. From his actions, they declare, suicide appears to have been his motive. It was with much difficulty that the wires were cut and his body let down to the street by a rope. He was rushed to the Grady hospital, where it was found he suffered severe burns about the arms and legs. Physicians state he will probably recover.

Increased Tax Values.

With thirty counties still to be heard from, the total taxable property of the state of Georgia for the year of 1918 shows an increase of $85,788,312, according to the reports received in the office of Comptroller General Wright. The total up-to-date for the year is $1,077,449,927, as compared with $991,661,615 for 1917.

Pushball and Baseball At Ponce de Leon Today

Two Negro Teams Play Pushball — Gordon Meets Oglethorpe on Diamond. Starts at 2:30.

Atlanta fans have a treat in store for them at Ponce de Leon in the athletic schedule arranged by the military authorities, for the usual week-end entertainment that has been furnished ever since the close of the Southern league season.

The first real pushball game to be staged in Atlanta will be contested between two teams from the colored soldiers at Camp Gordon.

Atlanta fans got a taste of pushball when about ten minutes of a game was played a few Saturdays ago. There has been such a clamor for a real game to be staged that the military authorities listened to the plea of the public and the game today is the result.

Pushball is an exciting pastime and between two splendidly coached teams as the ones that will participate in the game this afternoon there promises to be plenty of action.

Gordon vs. Oglethorpe.

The baseball game will be between Fort Oglethorpe and Camp Gordon and another one of those hard fought contests is certain to be the result.

Gordon's team is now playing smoothly and with the recent acquisitions and the steady practices they have rounded into a nine that is going to give them all quite a bit of trouble. With Wambganns, Von Kolnitz, Gooch and Kingman, four major leaguers, in their line-up, they have the nucleus around which a most formidable nine has been welded.

But the Fort Oglethorpe aggregation is also formidable and the Gordon team is going to need all its strength to be returned the victors.

The usual rooting, singing and bands will be on hand to add to the festivness of the occasion.

FULTON MODEL PRISON PLANS ARE ABANDONED

The plans for building a model prison as headquarters for the county chaingang system, which the county commission has been contemplating for some time, were abandoned Friday in view of the recent order of the government prohibiting the construction of new public buildings.

The Bellwood convict camp will continue to be used as headquarters.

The only structure which the county is likely to attempt to build in the near future is a new detention home for the children's court, the movement for which was put under way at the recent monthly session of the commission. On the ground that it is necessary to the proper care of juvenile offenders, a special plea will be made to the government for the construction of this building.

Lecture Sunday Afternoon.

"The Universal Plan" is the subject of the weekly lecture of the Atlanta Theosophical society that will be delivered Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the society's headquarters, 802 Atlanta Trust building, 140 Peachtree street. This lecture will be of special interest to soldiers. The public is cordially invited. No charge.

Fifth Regiment	12	6	.666
Third Regiment	8	8	.500
First Regiment	9	10	.474
Second Regiment	4	12	.250

In one of the most exciting games of the season at Camp Gordon the Fifth regiment yesterday beat the Fourth regiment, 3 to 1. Close to 5,000 soldiers, members of the rival regiments, rooted themselves hoarse.

Hasty held the Fifth regiment runless until the sixth inning. Then he walked Dague; Evans sacrificed, and Gooch lifted the ball into the barracks for three bases. Kingman flied to Maloney, who dropped the ball, Gooch scoring the winning run. Further errors netted the Fifth regiment its third and unneeded run.

Kingman pitched a heady game for the Fifth. He was hit freely at times, but his opponents were able to get over only one run, in the second inning. After he got into the lead he held the Fourth regiment helpless with a slow curve.

The First regiment and the Third regiment played a close game, the First defeating the Third by a score of 5 to 4.

The First filled the bases in the first inning; Fisher scored on a hit by Gober, and Gober and Von Kolnitz walked home. Lookabaugh brought home the first score for the Third, in the fourth inning. Jones scored in the next inning on a hit by Von Kolnitz for the First, and McConnell, of the Third, stole home.

A hit by Chapman in the sixth inning let in Brunner of the First. Wimbles, the heavy hitter for the Third, knocked a three-bagger, which brought in Falkenberry, in the sixth inning, and Lausche stole home in the seventh, furnishing the Third with their final score.

BIG CIRCUS TAKES MONTHLY CENSUS

Taking the census of a circus the size of Ringling Brothers' is no small task even though the recorders find all for whom they seek within the area of the acres covered by the tents of the canvas city.

In this moving municipality such a procedure is pursued once each month throughout the entire circus season. Three men begin operations very early in the morning and usually require the entire day to complete their task. The last census of the Ringling Brothers' circus disclosed a population of 1,371 men, women and children; 735 horses, herds of elephants and zebras, and 1,003 wild animals. The greatest increase over past seasons is evidenced in the number of people. This is explained by the fact that the new spectacle of knighthood and romance, "In Days of Old," is being presented upon a much larger scale than any production of this nature yet offered by the Ringling Brothers. One hundred more dancing girls are introduced in the ballets than ever before, and other features have been enlarged in similar proportion. The new spectacle has also been responsible for the increase in train facilities, a total of 100 double-length cars now being required to haul the wonders of this marvelous circus.

Gigantic means are employed to feed this city of Ringlinville. More than 4,000 meals are served daily to its people alone in a vast canvas hotel, said to be the largest every traveled. The range upon which all fried and broiled stuffs are prepared is on wheels and weighs upwards of ten tons. It is not unusual to hear the head chef place an order for 5,000 griddle cakes and a proportionate amount of eggs and bacon for a single breakfast. Practically all purchasers are made daily and in the particular city in which the circus is to exhibit. The average daily expense of running the commissary department is over $2,200.

Ringling Brothers will exhibit here Friday and Saturday, September 27 and 28.

DEALERS IN MORPHINE ARE REAPING HARVEST

Frank O'Hara, Harry Clarke and D. W. McLester, three alleged dope peddlers, were tried before United States Commissioner Carter Friday morning and bound over to the federal grand jury in bonds ranging from $300 to $600, and in default of bond they were all committed to jail. Jack Lloyd was released on promise to take treatment at a local sanitarium. All of the alleged fiends had to have a "shot" given them by Dr. Case before they could stand trial, after being in jail without any overnight.

It seems that the trade in morphine is more active in Atlanta now than at any time since the army camp was established here, and some of those who are able to secure it more easily than others are getting rich at the business of selling it at exorbitant prices. The commercial value of the drug is $25 an ounce, but some of the peddlers have been selling it at the rate of one dollar per grain, and since there are 437 grains to the ounce, it is a money-making business. One of the main methods of obtaining the drug is to raise the physician's certificate, and plenty of evidence was produced to show that several had been raising the amount called for by the physician from four ounces to fifteen ounces.

Decision Not to Apply.

Officials of the Bell Telephone company Friday explained that the refusal of the railroad commission to approve the installation charges ordered by Postmaster General Burleson, who has supervision of all telephone and telegraph, will not affect the charges which are already in effect.

TWO PERSONS HURT WHEN STREET CAR AND AUTO COLLIDE

When a trolley car and an automobile collided at the corner of Alabama and Whitehall streets late Friday afternoon two persons, who were caught between the vehicles, were painfully injured. Mrs. R. M. Striplin, wife of R. M. Striplin, business manager of the Southeastern Fair association, was slightly bruised, and B. W. Bryan, a grader, 45 years old, of 105 Bryan street, sustained a broken left leg and was otherwise injured.

Bryan was rushed to the Grady hospital, where early Friday night he was reported resting easy. The accident was caused, according to Traffic Officer Martin, when the back trucks on a West Peachtree car, instead of following the front wheels, started around the curve, throwing the car on the wrong side of the street. Neither the car or automobile were badly damaged, according to the police. Much excitement was caused, traffic blocked and about a half a dozen ambulances came to the scene.

WATSON TO CONTEST VINSON'S ELECTION

His Lawyer Said to Have Given Notice—Wilkinson County the Contest.

Macon, Ga., September 13.—A long distance telephone message from Irwinton, the county seat of Wilkinson county, states that a lawyer for Thomas E. Watson, who has arrived there, has given notice that the vote in Wilkinson county, which was the deciding county in re-electing Congressman Carl Vinson, will be contested. Formal papers are being drawn, it is said. Vinson carried this county by 92 votes. At the close of the count, the same information says, the ballots were destroyed.

A similar contest also is to be made in Taliaferro county.

That Watson will enter the race as an independent candidate is expected by his friends if the contests fail.

CORDELE CIRCUIT RACE WAS HOTLY CONTESTED

Cordele, September 13.—(Special.)—O. T. Gower won the judgeship race of the Cordele circuit in one of the hottest primaries waged in this section of the state in many seasons. He defeated Judge D. A. R. Crum by 130 votes over the four counties.

Judge Crum beat Mr. Gower in Dooly by 116 votes. In Wilcox Gower had a lead of 182 votes. In Ben Hill there was a tie that remained a tie. In Crisp Judge Crum got a total of 336 votes and Mr. Gower 402.

Solicitor General Joe Wall goes back as winner over Judge Griffin.

There was a total vote of 747 in Crisp county cast for governor seems to have been the highest vote.

Of this total B. H. Palmer polled 735 for representative. He was unopposed.

Still Captured.

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—A big copper still and three moonshiners were captured by Sheriff Tucker, of Irwin county, and Chief of Police McGinnis, of Ocilla, attracted a great deal of attention when they paraded through Fitzgerald yesterday afternoon. The still was being operated by five men at Bone Pond, in Irwin county, at the time it was bagged. Two of them escaped, but the sheriff recognized them and expects to round them up shortly.

Carload of Hogs.

Cordele, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—C. C. Greer, local farmer and stock man, yesterday shipped the first full car of Crisp county hogs to be sent to the packers by a single grower. He sold the car of hogs to C. O. Noble, and the cash receipts amounted to $1,941. There were sixty-one head in the car.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, September 13.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding good cables from Liverpool, the local cotton market opened practically unchanged. Liverpool was a buyer, while hedge and southern selling was in evidence on advances. The market was fairly steady throughout most of the day, as there appeared to be no special news to create fresh interest. J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, September 13.—(Special.)—In the absence of positive assurance that prices will not be fixed, prices sagged again today; that is the record of a market in which buyers are timid because of the existence of threatened action by a power whose act they cannot gauge. We think the small hedge selling is about offset by the small spinners' demand.

One can hardly expect an active inquiry from spinners so long as they also expect the government to fix the price. Why should they take any risk of carrying a large reserve stock under such conditions? Naturally they prefer that the producer shall hold the crop or sell it at such a decline that they (the spinner) might be willing to take the risk. Under these conditions the local feeling is bearish.

New York, September 13.—The cotton market was less active today and after an early advance eased off under scattered offerings which were attributed partly to southern hedges. The general list closed steady at a net decline to 34 to 36 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 11 points, and sold 25 to 35 points net higher right after the call, with December touching 34.22 and January 34.05. This was in response to relatively firm cables and Liverpool buying, but otherwise there was not much support, and the advance seemed to meet increased increased southern offerings. After reactions of some 50 to 55 points, prices steadied up on renewed covering and a private crop report placing the mid-month condition at 54.8, compared with the end-August report of 57.3.

The demand tapered off on rallies of 25 or 30 points, however, and the market weakened again in the late trading under liquidation and scattered selling by houses with southern connections. December sold off to 33.63, and January to 33.46, and last prices were within one or two points of the lowest.

Nothing further was heard concerning the proposed investigation of the war industries board, but there still seemed to be some nervousness over the prospect, which probably had a restricting influence on the market. Traders were also reported to be waiting for a better line on the further attitude of the southern spot holders, who at present are said to be selling around the 35-cent level, but disposed to withdraw offerings on declines.

The census report on supply and distribution, showing the amount of domestic mill consumption for August, is to be published at the opening tomorrow. Little interest was evidenced in its probable showing during today's trading.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NERVOUS AND NARROW

New Orleans, September 13.—Nervous and narrow changes attended trading in cotton today, swings carrying the market both above and below the level of Wednesday's close, but not in an important way. War news was the main bullish influence at work, and a better upinion of weather conditions over the belt and an easier feeling regarding the hurricane still in tropical waters, were the principal bearish features, although the small mill takings of American cotton this week, 145,000 bales, caused selling toward the end. The close was at a net loss for the day of 16 to 23 points.

On the opening there was buying in volume for a short time, orders having accumulated over the holiday and, again, professional traders were inclined to buy on the strength of successes by the American forces in France. The opening rise amounted to 18 to 43 points. The better weather map and the reports concerning the hurricane, holding out the possibility that the storm would not approach the cotton region, but might pass out into the Atlantic, created a selling wave on which the market broke to a level 15 to 25 points under Wednesday's final figures. In the early afternoon the market steadied up and at one time was at a net advance of about 5 points, but it finally eased off under the selling encouraged by small mill takings.

Money Conditions Force Liquidations In Stock Market

New York, September 13.—Further enforced liquidation of specialties, prompted largely by contracted money conditions, characterized the early period of today's stock market, irregular recoveries ensuing in the latter part of the session.

Stocks, which bore the brunt of the initial decline, included shippings, tobaccos, motors, oils and numerous minor war issues, their depreciation being attended by unconfirmed reports of further withdrawal of bank loans.

Standard stocks, rails and industrials also weakened in the early selling, but rallied at the first signs of support and short covering.

Aside from adverse loan conditions, there were specific reasons for the heaviness of certain issues, marine preferred, for instance, owing its setback of 3 points to the company's annual report, which disclosed a large increase in net income.

Sumatra Tobacco was almost without support during the forenoon, but recovered half of its 6-point decline. Industrial Alcohol, Distillers, General Motors and Wilson Packing reacted 2 to 4 points, making irregular rallies.

United States Steel closed at a slight fractional gain after losing almost 1 point, and investment rails strengthened, but 1 to 2½-point recessions in St. Paul common and preferred and New Haven were not retrieved to any extent.

Bonds were easier, Liberty issues shading slightly with railways and industrials. Total sales, par value, aggregated $9,250,000. Old United States coupon 4's advanced ½ per cent on call.

LACK OF STOCKS SWINGS CORN UP

Scarcity of Supplies Made Shorts Nervous—Oversold Condition Noticeable in September Options.

Chicago, September 13.—Nearly complete disappearance of corn here good enough in grade to be delivered without penalty on September contracts did much today to give values an upward swing. Largely in consequence the close was unsettled, 1⅜c to 2⅝c net higher, with October $1.54⅝ to $1.54⅝, and November $1.52⅝ to $1.53⅞. Oats gained ⅞c to ⅞@1c. Provisions finished unchanged to 50 cents higher.

Shorts in the corn market were plainly nervous over the scarcity of supplies in Chicago elevators and regarding the meager amount of pit offerings. The September option especially showed an oversold condition, and went to a sharper premium as compared with October. Widespread need of warm weather and sunshine counted as an additional stimulus toward higher prices. Bears attempted to use the favorable war news as a factor in forcing a decline, but the buying was too persistent to allow success. Instead the market, even to the last retained most of the day's advance.

Liberal purchasing on government account had a bullish influence in the oats market. Besides country offerings to arrive were light.

Hogs at $20.85, a new high price record, gave a decided upward slant to provisions. Business, however, lacked volume.

New York, September 13.—There were no new developments in the local raw sugar over the holiday. Prices remain at 7.28 for centrifugal to the refiner, while the committee continues to purchase the remaining old crop supply at equal to 6.055 for centrifugal. Today's purchases by the committee were 16,000 bags of Cuban and 13,300 Porto Rico.

In refined the only new feature was the announcement in regard to retail prices, which will be 11 cents a pound. There was only a moderate business with refiners well able to take care of all orders. Prices are unchanged at 9 cents for fine granulated.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 13.—Cotton goods and yarns not wanted by the government were quiet today, owing to the indifference of mills to accept further business at this time. Burlaps were quiet and easy. Wool markets were dull and raw silk quiet.

COTTON LESS ACTIVE DESPITE WIDE RANGES

Week Witnessed Wide Fluctuations—Undertone Steady Towards the Close.

New York, September 13.—While there have been rather wide fluctuations in the cotton market during the past week, trading has been less active, with excitement subsiding.

The first ginning report of the season, published on Monday, showeda record-breaking amount ginned prior to September 1, and led to some selling early in the week. It failed to bring in the southern hedge selling that some had auticipated, however, and rallies followed, with the market showing a fairly steady undertone later, and with business restricted by the adjournment of over registration day.

The weekly report of the weather bureau failed to encourage the rather more optimistic view of crop prospects on the rains in the southwest, as it was said that the cotton had made little progress, and that the outlook continued unsatisfactory in most sections. On the other hand, there were rumors that preliminary returns to one of the prominent southern authorities placed the mid-month condition at 56.5, compared with the government's end-August report of 55.7, and advices otherwise have been more or less conflicting. According to a report published today, the condition as of September 9 was 54.8, compared with 57.3 at the end of August, showed some improvement in Texas and Oklahoma, prospects being more than offset by deterioration elsewhere. On the whole, local brokers say there has probably been no important changes of ideas of the crop during the week, and no fresh development has been noted in the export situation.

A private report estimated domestic with consumption for August at 526,000 bales. The report of the census bureau to be issued tomorrow for the same period will consume 541,000 for July and 569,000 for August of last year.

Washington advices have indicated strong opposition to any movement in the direction of price-fixing for cotton, unless uneasiness has been shown over the proposed investigation of the war industries board, but the uncertainties in that direction are supposed to have had some restricting influence on the market.

WIDESPREAD RAINS HAVE HELPED CROPS, SAYS BRADSTREET'S

New York, September 13.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Insistent demand for war materials, the return of confidence in previously drouth-stricken areas, indications of a heavily increased winter wheat acreage, a record movement of grain, high prices for all farm products, and the certainty that orders offering are far larger than supplies, stand out as the prominent features of this week's news.

Widespread rains, putting the soil generally in good condition for a record winter wheat seeding, some improvement in cotton and corn, and unprecedentedly high prices for all kinds of farm product and meat-producing animals, have removed some of the hesitation shown in the southern and southwestern section of late, and jobbers, final distributors and consumers are alike freer buyers.

Weekly bank clearings $6,121,027,000.

Coffee.

New York, September 13.—The issuance of new or amended regulations by the food administration served to unsettle the market for coffee futures here today. These regulations provided that there could be no trading in December contracts except in liquidation of existing commitments and also that no deliveries could be accepted on contracts except by licensed dealers.

The opening was unchanged to 9 points lower under scattering liquidation in the later months, and while December was well maintained at the maximum price of 8.95, July sold off to 9.60 during the afternoon with the market closing net unchanged to 25 points lower. A decline in the Santos futures market probably increased the disposition to liquidate long contracts, but the nearer months were influenced by reports of a steady, firm spot situation.

Closing bids: September 8.50; October, 8.65; December, 8.95; January, 9.05; March, 9.35; May, 9.45; July, 9.60.

Spot coffee firm; Rio sevens 3¾; Santos fours, 13, with business reported on the basis of 13½ cents in store for Santos fours. Some business was also reported in the cost and freight market, believed to be at quotations f. o. b. Brazil.

The official cables reported no changes in Brazilian markets except Santos futures. The early cable showed a decline of 300 to 425 reis in the market there and a later cable showed a further decline of 150 to 375 reis. Fine weather was reported in all districts of Sao Paulo with minimum tempeartures ranging from 52 to 57 degrees. Brazilian port receipts, 53,000; Jundiahy receipts, 38,000.

Rice.

New Orleans, September 13.—Rough rice, sales, Honduras, 1,55 sacks at 7.00@7.50; Carolina, 242 sacks at 7.35. Receipts, 6,291; millers, 3,397.

Clean, sales, Honduras, 6,006 pockets at 5⅝@9¼. No receipts.

CITY OF VLADIVOSTOK BECOMING CONGESTED

Siberian Port Is Experiencing War Boom Since Arrival of Allied Armies.

Vladivostok, August 23.—(Via Tokio. Correspondence of the Associated Press.) Influx of foreigners insident to the landing of allied troops has filled Vladivostok, already overcrowded by the native population, almost to the point of standing room only. Y. M. C. A. workers, American and Japanese Red Cross and the American corps of railroad operatives, have been put to it to find places to sleep.

A stranger entering Vladivostok faces the prospect of walking the streets and sleeping in the open unless he is fortunate enough to find friends among some of the foreign charitable organizations and considers himself extremely lucky to be provided with a mattress and blanket on the floor of some vacant building. Every vacant house or apartment has been secured either outright or under option by representatives of the allied powers to house the staffs of incoming forces.

Plenty of Barracks.

Fortunately Vladivostok has always been a heavily garrisoned town and there is plenty of barracks room; and the Red Cross doctors and nurses are well provided for on Russian island, a beautiful wooded tract across the bay. There a comparatively new hospital building with a capacity of 150 beds, has been turned over to the American Red Cross and has been refitted throughout with beds and apparatus brought from Japan. A half dozen Japanese doctors and a corps of Japanese nurses are in attendance upon seventy occupants—Czechs and Slovaks who have hitherto been charges of the officers and men of a United States naval vessel in an improvised hospital housed in a dock warehouse.

Hospital Facilities.

When organization of the Russian island is completed there will be efficient surgical and medical wards with facilities for treatment of eye, ear and nose and throat diseases. Contagious cases will be treated in the Russian marine hospital under Czecho-Slovak control. Serviceable ambulances are being contrived by naval mechanics out of motor lorries and two complete hospital trains will soon be put in commission. The Red Cross is expected to care for the sick and wounded from the British contingent of troops who arrived with no hospital facilities. The Japanese on the contrary have secured and remodeled a Russian hospital with adequate facilities in the outskirts of the town for the care of their own men. The French contingent has an army meidcal service of their own, but will be dependent more or less upon the American and Japanese hospital facilities.

The branch of service which has proved most helpful to date is the army Y. M. C. A. Supply and club cars have accompanied each contingent of troops, distributing bread, tea, coffee, chocolate, cigarettes, tobacco, matches, at cost price to the fighting men of the allied columns and to the Czechs and Slovaks all along the line, even to the foremost positions.

TRAINING CAMP HEALTH CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Washington, September 13.—General improvement in health conditions at training camps and cantonments is shown in Surgeon General Gorgas' health report for the week ending September 6. There was a marked decrease in the number of cases of pneumonia, measles, meningitis, malaria and dysentery, and there were 95 deaths, compared with 117 the week before.

Twelve deaths were reported at Camp Wheeler, Georgia, all from pneumonia.

The number of new cases of pneumonia at Camp Wheeler continues high. They are chiefly among negro men recently inducted into the service. During the week 22 new cases were reported. Only one other camp, Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., reported a larger number of cases than Camp Wheeler. Thirty-one contracted the disease there.

Fatal Air Accident.

Fort Worth, Texas, September 13.—Lieutenant C. R. James, of Chicago, was instantly killed, and an enlisted man named Lantz, fatally injured here today when their airplane crashed to earth in a spin. Lantz died shortly after the accident.

VICTORY OF PERSHING'S TROOPS

war. A defeat like Jena, Sedan, Waterloo, from which no organized enemy force shall escape, and it is in this light that we must look at recent victories. The local successes of Mangin, Rawlinson, Horne and now of Pershing—they are details in the larger strategy, which can only be realized when the main German forces have suffered complete defeat.

In this strategy, French, British and American armies have now played their assigned roles. Our army is now a unit in the system of armies. Our first separate victory is an engagement bigger than Gettysburg or the Wilderness. Henceforth our army is to count in a new sense; we are no longer the reserve of our allies; we are one of the three great machines in France, whose combined energy directed by a single brain, is to bring victory.

HAWKES CRYSTALIZED LENSES TRADE MARK

EYE-SIGHT

In the olden days, when the science of optical adjustment had not reached its present perfection, few people appreciated the importance of glasses. Many a child went through school under the ban of being a dunce, whereas the child was simply at a disadvantage with other bright children because of defective eyes. Many a man failed to make good at his occupation because of his weak eyesight.

Today, the science is making a valuable contribution to humanity, in furnishing the means for restoring normal vision by the use of glasses. Careful parents have their children's eyes examined before permanent defects creep in

HOW ARE YOUR EYES? HAVE YOU HAD THEM EXAMINED LATELY?

We are thoroughly equipped and qualified to help you in this matter. Our fifty years of optical service is yours without additional cost.

AMUSEMENTS

"Hearts of the World."

(At the Atlanta.)

This is the last day of "Hearts of the World," the master production of David Wark Griffith, which has been shown to capacity houses for two weeks at the Atlanta theater, will close its engagement with a matinee this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and a night performance at 8:15 o'clock. A few good seats are still on sale for the final performances, the theater box office opening at 10 a. m.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

There will be four vaudeville shows at Loew's Grand theater today, at 2, 4, 7 and 9 p. m., and those who fail to attend will miss one of the best bills that has been at this popular playhouse in some time. Every act of the five is a "winner." Rivoli, Europe's greatest quick change artist, heads the bill. The photoplay offering for the day is Tom Mix in "Mr. Logan, U. S. A.," a western feature of stirring scenes in which Tom Mix performs many daring stunts.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

"The Seven Honey Boys," minstrels par excellence, are headline attraction at the Lyric theater on the bill which will be seen for the last time today. The solo dancing and the yodeling are very pleasing. The Ballyhoo Trio offer a very versatile and most unusual act which is of value to the program. Wheeler Earl and Vera Curtis are splendid in a song and dance number. The rest of the bill is up to the usual high average.

"Watch Your Step."

(At the Atlanta.)

"Watch Your Step," Irving Berlin's international syncopated musical success, coming to the Atlanta theater on Tuesday night next for a limited engagement of two nights and Wednesday matinee, is made up almost entirely of music, dancing and girls—thirty-four of the most beautiful young women that have ever been identified with a traveling musical organization. The costumes are the very latest expressions in the world fashion, created by the celebrated Helen Dryden, designer of all the covers for "Vogue." It is not a "No. 2" show, there being only this one company out on the road this season.

The Modern City Home Is a Work of Art as Well as a Place to Live In

Imagine the prettiest hill in one of the most desirable residential settings in Atlanta, a site selected for its natural beauty of topography.

Then an architect of note designed a house without regard to expense; the finest quality of material was used (tapestry brick and gray stone); the best heating system put in; hardwood floors laid, walls tastefully decorated; grounds beautiful.

It would be practically an impossibility to duplicate this superb Ansley Park home today, the cost would bankrupt anyone. Yet we have a very reasonable sale price at which we can offer it.
